Vietnamese Plan Six Viet Cong Executions

South Acts Despite Red Threat of Reprisal Against Americans Held Prisoner

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government is reported planning six more executions Friday despite Viet Cong threats of reprisals against American prisoners.

Informants said no Communist reaction was expected because those to be executed were convicted of criminal activities in no way related to the Viet Cong.

When Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky became premier of South Viet Nam last June, he warned that his government would execute hoarders, speculators and war profiteers. So far, none of these executions have been carried out publicly.

Sandbag Wall

In retaliation, the Viet Cong executed Sgt. Harold Bennett of Perryville, Ark., on June 25.

The Viet Cong announced Monday they had executed another two American servicemen in reprisal for the shooting of three Viet Cong sympathizers at Da Nang two weeks ago. The Americans were Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md., and Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, whose wife lives at Fayetteville, N.C.

More Threats

Threats of more reprisals against captured Americans came in a letter from North Viet Nam to the International Red Cross in Geneva and in the official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan.

North Viet Nam told the Red Cross that captured American and South Vietnamese pilots will be tried as war criminals because they had "deliberately" bombed objects marked with the sign of the Red Cross. The State Department has denied this

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said in Washington "any effort to brand American pilots as war criminals and try them in kangaroo fashion would be a smoke screen for reprisals" for the execution of Communist terrorists by the South Vietnamese.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester said in Miami, Fla., that the Communist declaration was "a resort to primeval savagery."

Lenient Policy

Nhan Dan said Roraback and Versace "would have been put to death long ago had it not been for the lenient policy" of the Viet Cong.

The Communists indicated in a broadcast earlier this week that more Americans might be put to death if the South Vietnamese government continues to execute Communist agents.

U.S. officials in Saigon said 38 American military personnel are missing and many of them are believed to be in Viet Cong hands.

Air Force records in Washington list six pilots as prisoners and 29 others as missing. The Navy does not acknowledge that any of its pilots have been captured but three of them listed as missing have appeared in Communist photographs or films from North Viet Nm .

Red China Pitches Anniversary Eve Challenge at World

'Let Them Come,' Minister Shouts at News Conference

TOKYO (AP) — Red China, lean but no longer hungry, trumpeted defiance at all its enemies today on the eve of its 16th birthday.

It was Oct. 1, 1947, that Red China was set up after defeat of Nationalist China forces.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi told foreign and Chinese newsmen during an impassioned four-hour interview in Peking that China would welcome an invasion by the United States.

Direct Challenge

"Let them come when they like!" Japanese correspondents reported he shouted. "Let the Indians come with them. Let the British come, too. Let the revisionists in the north (the Soviets) combine with them."

He promised that the Chinese would wipe out any attackers.

He also encountered African and Asian countries to produce their own nuclear weapons, a direct challenge to the U.S.-Soviet stand against the spread of nuclear weapons.

Chen Yi laid down tough conditions for Peking's entry into the United Nations. He said the United Nations must withdraw its resolution branding China an aggressor in the Korean War. He said it must admit all "independent" nations and expel all "imperialist puppet states," including Nationalist China.

Today the Chinese Communist party's theoretical journal, Red Flag, admitted that the class struggle still exists in China, "at times is very acute."

"The old ideas, notions, habits and conventions are extremely tenacious," it said. "Our struggle against them will be a protracted one."

Recent Actions

Though the Chinese have not abated their outward shows of belligerency, students of Chinese affairs in Tokyo note that their recent actions have prudently hewed to the line of self-interest rather than that of international communism.

The Peking regime appears concerned first with strengthening its domestic position, concentrating on further recoveries in agriculture, expansion of light industry and continuation of the gradual buildup of heavy industry. Thanks to an improvement in the standard of living, experts say it is getting greater cooperation from the masses.

Half a million Chinese will march through Peking's Square of Heavenly Peace Friday in front of the ancient forbidden city under the gaze of aging Communist party chairman, Mao Tze-tung, and a few guests, including Cambodia's ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk and the year's top defector, Li Tsung-jen, former acting president of Nationalist China.

Special programs have been arranged throughout the country to mark the anniversary.

Volcano Hurls More Lava on Rescue Efforts

Toll Estimate Still Indefinite; Taal Erupts Again

MANILA (AP) — The Taal Volcano hurled steam and lava 2,000 feet into the air today while rescuers tried to determine how many persons died in hhe volcano's eruption Tuesday.

New evacuation measures were ordered along the lake surrounding the tiny volcanic island 40 miles south of Manila.

The volcano had subsided Tuesday night but continued to rumble and emit smoke and steam. Arturo Alcaraz, director of the Commission of Volcanology, said the new crater formed by the eruption Tuesday had widened to a diameter of about 1,640 feet.

Death Estimate

The Philippine Constabulary estimated about 500 persons may have been killed Tuesday.

About 2,000 Filipinos lived on the volcano's slopes. The first rescue parties to reach the island feared most had been killed, but more and more were turning up in refugee camps.

Rescue workers said they found ashes and volcanic debris 30 feet deep in places and saw no immediate sign of human life. Only rooftops showed in some villages.

The rescuers said apparently one-third of the island was badly hit but most residents elsewhere may have been able to get to boats and sail away.

Accurate Count

An accurate death count seemed unlikely, since many drowned trying to flee and other persons were buried by ash and lava that rescuers said would be impossible to remove.

The constabulary said 22,000 persons were housed in emergency camps.

More troops were rushed to the lakeshore area amid reports that deserted homes were being looted.

Jury Acquits Deputy Sheriff In Rights Killing

12 Deliberate Hour Today Before Arriving at Verdict

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A jury of 12 white men acquitted special Deputy Sheriff Thomas L. Coleman today of a manslaughter charge in the killing of a white civil rights worker, Jonathan M. Daniels.

The verdict came after the jury had deliberated one hour Wednesday night and one hour this morning In the intervening time, the jurors had spent the night locked up in Montgomery.

Foreman C. E. Gates Jr. handed the written verdict to the circuit clerk, Mrs. Kelly Coleman. She read it aloud in the courtroom.

Several of the jurors shook hands with the defendant after Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard discharged them.

The spectators who occupied most of the seats in the courtroom took the verdict without any display of feeling.

Manslaughter, which under Alabama law is defined as a deliberate, unlawful taking of human life without malice, is punishable by one to 10 years in prison.

The jury got the case at 4:43 p m but immediately took a 15-minute recess before starting deliberations in a high-ceilinged room in the century-old Lowndes County Courthouse.

Defense attorneys, in closing arguments, readily conceded that Coleman, 55, a highway engineer, killed Jonathan M. Daniels, an Episcopal seminary student from Keene, N.H., and critically wounded the Rev. Richard Morrisroe of Chicago.

Clergy Armed

Debbie Ceases To Pose Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Debbie gave the Gulf Coast from Florida to Louisiana a scare and whipped a few gales ashore before she broke up about 30 miles south of Biloxi, Miss

Debbie, which formed last Friday off the Mexican coast, got within 100 miles of Pensacola before she stalled and lost her strength to a cold front on the mainland Wednesday.

Flooding, which the Weather Bureau feared might be debbie's worst threat, did not develop

More Skirmishing In India-Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India and Pakistan dug in today for what promised to be more bloody skirmishing along the ineffective U.N. cease-fire line between their armies.

Spokesmen for both nations continued to adopt uncompromising stands that appeared to leave no prospect of a significant troop withdrawal or long-range peace settlement.

Short Observers

The United Nations, which arranged the cease-fire on Sept. 28, still did not have enough observers to patrol the front. The chief U.N. officer, Maj. Gen. Bruce McDonald of Canada, reportedly crossed no-man's land in the Lahore sector in an effort to quiet the skirmishing.

McDonald was reported proposing that both armies initially withdraw 500 yards along the Lahore front, where their forward units now faced each other across the 100-foot-wide Ichhogil Canal.

A U.N. spokesman in New York said Secretary-General U Thant had asked several Communist East European governments to contribute to the U.N. observer force. Yugoslavia is the only Communist nation which has received such a request in the past.

Counter Charges

Both sides were charging cease-fire violations along the front stretching from Himalayan Kashmir southwest almost to the Arabian Sea Coast.

Some of the heaviest fighting was reported in the great Indian desert covering much of India's Rajasthan State and the adjoining Hyderabad area of southern West Pakistan.

The Pakistani defenders said they inflicted heavy casualties and captured five Indian officers, including a battalion commander.

India claimed it was winning the desert fighting, causing the Pakistanis "grievous losses in men and equipment." A defense ministry spokesman said 27 Pakistanis were killed and 26 captured when their units tried to infiltrate the West Indian state.

Trailer Trip Halted by War

Traveler Loses Equipment

MANAWA—A world traveler who left this community in March for a world tour with a Manawa-made camping trailer, has been separated from his equipment in the war-torn India-Pakistan area.

Harold Stephens, American writer and adventurer who promised a world circling trip with his Trade Winds camper writes he is "disgusted, frustrated and annoyed. It appears I may be here for months in the Far East."

Stephens and his companion, Al Podell, planned to be in Manawa to complete their trip next spring. The two report that they had encountered snow storms, floods, desert crossings, disease, land slides, bandits and robbers, before the war interrupted their travels after seven months.

Cross Deserts

The two, with their Wisconsin-manufactured trailer and hundreds of pounds of equipment, have crossed the world's hottest deserts, the Sahara, Libya, the Great Salt desert of Iran, and the Afghan, have crossed the Dead Sea, and traveled for hundreds of miles in territory which has never seen a highway or a road.

Stephens reports that he came down with ptomaine poisoning after eating a can of sardines during a rest stop in the Libyan desert.

Following the illness, Stephens and Podell split up in Afghanistan. Podell followed a southern route to Kabul and Stephens followed a long-forgotten route in the north. He took a British sailor with him as companion.

Podell arrived in Kabul in two days, and after five days, when he did not hear from his companion, notified the American Embassy that Stephens may be lost along the way.

Begin Search

A search was begun and the European press carried accounts of the American writer and his sailor companion being lost.

Stephens, meanwhile, near exhaustion and running low on food and water, was traveling along a desert trail when he encountered a Japanese-made automobile. The driver, a woman, dressed in white, waved and Stephens stopped his car and waved back.

The driver, who had begun a search for the writer, was an old friend he had not seen for several years, but who had heard of his plight and flew to Kabul to join the search.

Stephens and Podell, reunited in Kabul, resumed traveling to Katmandu, Nepal and then to Calcutta where they decided to travel into East Pakistan for a visit to the primitive Chattagon Hill area.

Build Up

Border troubles had been rumored and the two noticed the military build-up along the way. Once, when they stopped to ask directions from a military group at a crossroads, they were arrested and placed in a police compound. Their film and cameras were confiscated.

Later, the two, after being identified as journalists, were taken under armed guard to the Pakistan border where they were allowed to cross the military lines.

When they reached Dacca, the East Pakistan capital, they learned that telephone

Await Papal Advice

Urge Council to Scrap Its Birth Control Text

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council was asked today to scrap its entire text on birth control and let Pope Paul VI make a final pronouncement on the subject.

The request came from John Cardinal Heenan of Britain, who also asked that the Roman Catholic Church urge childless couples to adopt orphans and illegitimate children.

Cardinal Heenan was among 14 prelates who spoke in the council on the marriage and birth control section of the assembly's schema on modern world problems.

Have Right

The document speaks of couples having the right to determine the number of children they should have. But there is no mention of contraception.

Clearly alluding to contraception, Cardinal Heenan told the prelates in St. Peter's:

"Would it not be better to say nothing at all about marriage in this document rather than discuss it while leaving the really big problem without mention?

"If we act in this way, there is surely some danger that the faithful will feel they are being defrauded."

He said non-Catholic critics might even "sneer at us and say 'the Catholic Church claims to be infallible in teaching faith and morals, yet it cannot make up its mind about this question.'

'It would be better to leave out this whole chapter on marriage until the Pope, having received the guidance he has sought from scientists and theologians, is ready to make a proclamation on this subject."

Another speaker, Angelo Cardinal Rossi of Sao Paulo, Brazil, said the final word on birth control properly belongs to the Pope, but that the bishops at the council "must have some word before we leave and go back to our people."

Conservatives in the council complain that the birth control document is vague and leaves the way open for use of contraceptives.

Reds Expell ABC Reporter Sam Jaffe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today ordered the expulsion of Sam Jaffe, Moscow correspondent for the American Broadcasting Co.

The chief of the Soviet press department, Leonid Zamyatin, told Jaffe he had seven days to leave. Zamyatin said the ABC bureau was not being closed but the government had canceled a visa for George Watson, who was to replace Jaffe later this year.

Zamyatin said Jaffe's expulsion was ordered because of resent ABC reports. He indicated the Soviet leadership had been angered by a report from the United States by ABC correspondent John Scali that a Kremlin shakeup was likely.

Scali had said high government officials in Washington were studying a flood of reports which led them to believe a power struggle was under way in the Kremlin and that one version had it that both Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev were being ousted.

3rd Recent Quake Hits Denver Area

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Three earthquakes in less than a month have jolted the Denver area.

The latest Wednesday brought scattered report of cracked plaster, broken dishes and broken windows. It was felt in Boulder 30 miles to the northwest.

Lady Bird's Bill On Roads Could Be in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's highway beauty bill, which has taken some ugly knocks in its travels through the House, faces new trouble today.

The bill, in which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has shown great interest, is caught in as pretty a fight as the Rules Committee has seen all year.

Even the staunchest administration supporters on the committee found little good in the bill Wednesday and if they vote the way they talk, it will never be cleared for floor action. A vote could come today but no action has been definitely set.

The bill already has been passed by the Senate. Outside of commercial areas, it would require the removal of all billboards within 660 feet of the major highways of the nation.

Viet Cong Guerrilla Is Seasoned at 17

Corps Discipline Evidenced by Mementoes From Fallen Fighters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The faces of the dead Viet Cong often seem young—very young Unmitiated observers in the Mekong Delta area might be tempted to draw sweeping conclusions. The Viet Cong are running low on manpower—losses have hurt them severely They are using more women for toting rifles and hurling grenades.

Start Young

But people familiar with the background know better than to draw conclusions

Yes, the Viet Cong have been hurt But a Viet Cong guerrilla often begins carrying a rifle at 14 or 15 By 17 he is a seasoned fighter. H works his way up—from courier to spy to guerrilla fighter, to company commander and then, perhaps, into a crack fighting battalion

Pictures found in battle areas—photos that are evidently cherished mementos of fallen young Viet Cong fighters—seem to tell a story But the real meaning is never clear.

Evidence of Discipline

One sees new uniforms—now more and more standardized with black shirts and khaki trousers. But this does not necessarily mean total standardization any more than it means conventional warfare

One sees in pictures taken from bodies the evidences of discipline: The Viet Cong undergoing rigorous calisthenics between battles. Mementos are decorated often with handwritten slogans of battle

One soldier carried in his wallet, encased in a plastic folder, a picture of himself on the day he first donned the uniform of the U Minh battalion, the most famous of all Viet Cong battalions.

Its stronghold is the U Minh forest, a strip of the west coast of the Ca Mau peninsula 40 miles deep and 60 miles long which is totally controlled by the Viet Cong. The terrain makes it virtually impregnable to anything but air attack. South Viet Nam troops have not penetrated it.

Snapshots and Slogans

Sometimes the pictures are romantic—a snapshot of a face within a heart-shaped cutout. But almost always the slogans are there, too:

"We are worker-fighters"

"We will always be valiant"

"We will protect our heroism"

There is evidence that the Viet Cong's defection rate has risen in the first nine months of this year in the Delta area. Some leave because of too much discipline. Some defect because young cadres from the North—"the returnees," they call them because they are South Vietnamese who stayed North after partition—come in with their northern indoctrination and their toughness and take over, pushing veterans aside. Some defect because they find themselves alone because their units have been wiped out. Some defect because of fatigue or hunger.

Recruitment Higher

Few experts doubt that the rate of recruitment is higher than the rate of defection. And indications are that the training and experience of the Delta Viet Cong have made them able to adapt themselves rapidly to the tactics of the other side. They are as hard as ever to find, smoke out and kill.

U S advisers in the Delta think the South Vietnamese and the Americans hold the initiative now, however

"They are adapting to our tactics. Therefore they are on the defensive now," says a U.S. colonel "But we can't rest there What we know, they are bound to know. To keep the initiative in our hands we must keep them reacting That is, we must hit them all the time with something new"

Boys' School Solves Long Hair Problem Without Demerits

OAK RIDGE, N.C. (AP) — School principals across the nation may face the Beatle haircut problem but Maj. S M. Chandler at Oak Ridge Military Institute is sitting back with "not a Beatle on my campus."

"We had a little trouble last year keeping GI haircuts," he said. "Demerits didn't appear to work, so we embarked on a new policy this year.

"Haircut expenses now are included with other school fees, and we run them all down to the barber once a week. Not a Beatle on campus"

Supreme Court Fails In Writing Opinions

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The present Supreme Court, thoroughly sensitive and responsive to the times and perhaps the most courageous court in American history, is in one way as old-fashioned as its ancestors.

That's in the way it writes its opinions. Too often they sound like a private dialogue with the legal profession. And too many are tough going even for lawyers.

The reason: Ramblings, obscurities, poor organization, lack of literary discipline, and the failure to keep the reader always in mind, whether he's a lawyer or not.

No Excuse

There might have been some excuse for this in the 9th century when the court dealt with problems which did not affect the general public as quickly or directly as today. But today there is no excuse.

The court, like any agency of government, has an obligation to reach the people as clearly as possible. For its own sake, the court should try, since it has long been under angry and often distorted criticism.

In this problem of letting the people understand its actions, the court could be doing for itself what it is now depending on others to do for it. Newsen are the first ones who have to undertake this job.

Need for Speed

For some of them, especially those regularly covering the court for the news services, speed is essential. They must get their stories on the wires as soon as possible.

Except on opinion day, these news service reporters spend the week preparing themselves by digesting the briefs which the opposing lawyers file with the court to explain their positions.

Even so, on opinion day these reporters in telephone booths on a lower floor, waiting for the opinions which come down to them through pneumatic tubes when the court releases them, must begin a search for the decision.

It may be near the top, in the middle, at the end. If it's unusually obscure, there may be mistakes. There have been in the past and will be again, no matter how informed or intelligent the reporter is.

Background Search

Meanwhile, other reporters, less pressed for time, flock to the Supreme Court's press office on opinion day to pick up copies of the opinions. They, too, have to search for the decision and in addition may have to search for background.

And in many cases if a newspaper, in addition to its news story, wants to publish the full text of an opinion the reader is left dangling unless he has read the story or the paper prefaces the text with an explanation of the case.

The court itself realizes its opinions need some clarifying explanation on issues, points of law and the decisions, even for lawyers, as this will show:

Before the opinions are published in law books — called United States Reports — the court's official reporter, with the justices' approval, prefaces these opinions with explanations called "headnotes."

Possible Choices

If lawyers need this additional enlightenment, the average reader certainly does. The court, in writing its opinions, could do one of two things to be sure its opinions are equally clear to newsmen, readers and lawyers:

1. Provide an explanatory "headnote" with each opinion as it is handed out, either as part of the opinion or separate from it.

2. Or, state the case, the issue, the point of law and the decision in the first paragraph or two and then go on to explain how the opinion was reached.

Justice Tom Clark provided a beautiful example of how it could be done earlier this year when he wrote the majority opinion throwing out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes for swindling because his trial was televised against his will. Clark stated the problem and the decision in the first paragraph.

No one able to read could have had trouble understanding the whole opinion.

Like many others, the justices have an affection for old procedures and cling to them. They used to hand down opinions on one day only, Monday. On some Mondays, particularly the last court day of the year, they dished out a whole batch of opinions. There was no excuse for this, either.

Many newspapers which could treat one or two big decisions fully couldn't, for lack of space, do this with a batch of them. The public was always the loser. After years of prodding, the court changed and this year began handing down decisions on other days besides Monday.

A professor of law at Catholic University here, Arthur John Keefe, writing last May in the American Bar Journal, said: "If the Vatican can reform its church procedures, the Supreme Court ought to be able to come into the 20th century."

Senate Youth Movement Led by Democrats

Still Hardly a Young Mens Club, Average Age Is 58

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) There is a youth movement in the Senate, and the Democrats are leading the way

The staid, old chamber has hardly become a young men's club—the average age of all senators is slightly over 58

But the Democratic average is about 57 and has been going down, while the GOP average is 61½ and has been going up

The Democrats hold a 68-32 majority and have controlled the Senate since 1955.

Since 1962, the Democrats have sent 13 freshmen senators to Washington with an average age of 43 The oldest, Connecticut's Abraham A Ribicoff, is now 55, while the youngest, Edward M Kennedy of Massachusetts is 33

Republican Range

Republicans, during the same period, have sent six new senators, ranging from 45-year-old James B Pearson of Kansas to 67-year-old Milward L Simpson of Wyoming, with an average age of 58

The result is that of 23 senators under 50, only three are Republicans Two of the three, John G Tower of Texas and Jack Miller of Iowa, face tough election battles next year.

Three of the six newest GOP senators are former governors of their states—Simpson, 67, Len B Jordan of Idaho, 66; and Paul Fannin of Arizona, 58.

When Vice President Hubert H Humphrey resigned from the Senate last December, Minnesota Gov Karl Rolvaag appointed Walter F Mondale, now 37, to succeed him.

Floor Leadership

The immigration bill was floor managed by Edward Kennedy. It was the first time he had led the fight for a major administration bill since he entered the Senate in 1962 Earlier this year he led an effort—opposed by the administration—to put a poll tax ban into the voting rights bill It failed by four votes

The pending constitutional amendment on presidential disability was written and floor-managed by Indiana's Birch Bayh, 37, a Democrat.

The chief defenders of the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision against the Dirksen amendment on reapportionment were Joseph D. Tydings, 37, D-Md., and Edward Kennedy.

And the successful fight to keep control of foreign farm labor in the hands of the secretary of labor was led for the administration last week by Ross Bass, 47, D-Tenn.

Graybeards Too

The Democrats have something of a monopoly among the Senate's graybeards, too The seven oldest Democrats are all older than the two oldest Republicans, 73-year-olds George D. Aiken Vermont and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

The oldest senator of them all is Arizona's Carl Hayden, who is nearing his 88th birthday Hayden was a relative youngster, 49, when he started But he's been around for a record 38 years

'Kidder's Kingdom'

81-Year-Old Man Heads Own Self-Sufficient Clan of 29

LANDAFF, N.H. (AP) — Nate Kidder, 81, a man with no taste for a world he calls "the precinct," has founded his own kingdom with more than 29 descendants on the summit of a small mountain.

Kidder heads a nearly self-sufficient clan the size of a small town, at the 2,500-foot elevation on 285 acres of timberland in the Cooley Hills of northern New Hampshire.

The population includes Kidder's wife, nine children, more grandchildren than he keeps track of and cows, pigs and goats.

'It's Quiet'

The patriarch, born in Vermont of Indian and Yankee stock, says he hasn't taken a trip since he went to Bellows Falls, Vt., about 60 miles away, years ago.

'Out here, we have it our own way," Kidder says. "It's quiet. We can do what we want, raise what we want and keep what we want."

Kidder refers to the world below as "the precinct" — the nearest town is 10 miles away — and says, "You have to do what they tell you there and I'd hate that"

The Kidders raise their own food and do without doctors, dentists, butchers, carpenters and even undertakers.

Nate and his wife live in a large tar paper-covered house. Other family members live in small wood structures with tin roofs that they built themselves

The Kidders do make infrequent trips to town for clothing and other supplies. They sell some of their timber when they need money

One Thilmany Union Ends Its Contract

No Notice From Second; Mediator Sets Monday Meeting

KAUKAUNA — Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. officials announced they have received a termination of contract notice from Local 20 International Brotherhood of Papermakers, but not from Local 147, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

Termination of contract notice must be served at least six days prior to any strike or walkout at the plant, according to the union agreement.

Since Local 147 represents about 1,000 employes and Local 20 about 250, company officials declined to comment indicating a statement would be made if and when termination notices were received from both unions.

Notice of Strike

A notice placed on company bulletin boards indicate a strike has been called for 11:59 p.m. Tuesday, but this would not be possible under union agreement since no termination of contract notice from Local 147 has been received, company officials said

Phillip Simon, federal mediator who has sat in on previous negotiations has set up a meeting for 10 a.m. Monday. Contracts between the company and both unions expired Aug. 1. Negotiations have been conducted since that time.

Lawrence Science Hall In Booklet

Lawrence University's Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science, dedicated in 1964, is one of 26 new science facilities described in a booklet "Physics Buildings Today," issued by the Education and Manpower Division of the American Institute of Physics.

The booklet emphasizes novel and interesting types of construction and facilities, and includes buildings devoted entirely to physics, science buildings that contain physics facilities, and buildings devoted exclusively to graduate research.

A companion booklet, "Checklist for Physics Buildings" was compiled so planners could not forget important features of building design in physics and to encourage consultation between physics faculties and architects.

In his introduction to "Physics Buildings Today" Dr. Van Zandt Williams, director of the American Institute of Physics, says that its publication is in response to request from academic physicists to be kept informed about new concepts in physics buildings and to serve as a new facilities planning guide.

The only other Midwest Conference school to be represented in the book is Carleton College. Youngchild Hall was designed by Shattuck, Siewert and Associates, Inc., of Neenah.

Board President Calls for Early Action to Serve Area College

KAUKAUNA — A new library should head the list of future city buildings, Joseph Steger, library board president, told members of the city council finance committee Tuesday night.

Since the building will be built for the future, it should be constructed as soon as possible and used immediately, said Steger. He said delay in construction would cause deterioration of library services with a resultant loss in public interest When a new building is constructed it would then become necessary to again promote library usage.

Steger said the presence of the proposed 4-year college in the area would boost demand for library services. He asked support of city officials and indicated, even though the library board would accept contributions toward construction of a new facility, the board did not want the library to become a charitable institution.

Regional Library

He estimated 50 per cent of the population of the city currently makes extensive use of library facilities. Steger said a regional library plan was many years away and should it become a reality, a new facility would enhance Kaukauna's chances of being selected as a regional site.

Plans are being made to apply for federal aid if the council authorizes construction, said Steger. It should start in the spring of 1967, he said. Estimated cost of the 14,000 square foot structure has been set at $310,000.

Wayne Carr, library board vice president, estimated $30,000 has been spent on the old building, constructed in 1905, in the last 10 years This included remodeling of the basement as a children's department, new furniture, shelving, air conditioning, circulation desk, painting, interior decorating and landscaping.

Abendroth and Associates, Inc., Milwaukee architectural firm, were engaged in May to prepare preliminary plans for a new building, said Carr This followed extensive study of the library facility as it is today and growth patterns of the city by a library consultant, he continued.

Existing Site Best

The architects felt the existing site was the best suited for a library, but adding to the existing facility was not economically feasible. It would result in making book circula-

Appleton Man Fined For Illegal Possession Of Fire Works Supply

Clyde Geurden, 27, route 4, was fined $25 and costs when he changed his plea to guilty Wednesday afternoon on a charge of unlawful possession of firecrackers and assorted fireworks.

The case was scheduled for trial Wednesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 after having been postponed from Aug. 5.

Man Pleads Innocent To Misconduct Charge

Cowboy Will Stand Trial for Stabbing

Faces Three Charges in Death Of New London Man at Manawa

WAUPACA — Trial for Bernard E. Gallagher, 21, Millstadt, Ill., rodeo rider charged in the fatal stabbing of a rural New London man July 4, will be set sometime in November or December.

Gallagher was bound over to Waupaca County Court by Judge Wendell McHenry Wednesday after a preliminary hearing.

Gallagher has been charged with mayhem, injury by conduct regardless of life and carrying a concealed weapon in the fatal stabbing of James Genke, 22 route 1, who died July 15.

Testimony Wednesday was taken from Dr H. C. Schmallenberg, New London, Robert Holland, 19, McLean, Ill., and law enforcement officials.

Genke and Gallagher had allegedly become involved in a scuffle on the service station platform following an argument in which Genke allegedly accused Gallagher of bothering his wife who was nearby, his wife who was nearby.

The scuffle was witnessed by Kenneth Stevens, Manawa police chief, and Elmer Abraham, a part-time policeman. Both ran to the scene and Gallagher, who ran toward his car, was taken into custody following the fight.

Gallagher was arraigned two days following the fight and posted $5,000 bond. No additional charges were brought against Gallagher following Genke's death 11 days after the alleged fight.

Appleton Policemen Seek Wage, Benefit Increases

General Pay Hike Among 17 Requests

Appleton policemen requested sweeping wage and fringe benefit increases for 1966 at a meeting with the city council's personnel committee Wednesday night.

No estimate was available on how much the 17-point package — ranging from a blanket pay increase to employe parking in one of the municipal ramps — would cost the city

The demands were presented to the committee by the employe-employer bargaining committee of the Appleton Professional Policemen's Association, representing 70 men in the department, including supervisory personnel.

Upgrade Calibre

Declaring the association was interested in upgrading the caliber and role of the policeman to a professional status, the police department negotiators asked for:

—A general pay hike by advancing police officers one step on the present pay plan without interfering with merit increases.

—Longevity pay of 3 per cent after five years, 6 per cent after 10 years and 9 per cent after 15 years.

—Cost of living increase or decrease every six months, depending on the index.

—Time and a half pay for working on Sunday.

—A 15-cent per hour night differential, covering the period from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Sick Leave

—Fifteen days sick leave a year, accumulative to 90 days.

—The city to pay the entire cost of health insurance coverage.

—Pay for sick leave accumulated by the time a policeman reaches retirement, the money to be a bonus for many years service.

—A total of $20 a month extra for all patrol cruiser drivers.

Insurance Plan

—A State Life Insurance Plan with the city and employes sharing the premium cost.

—Liberalized vacations calling for one week for one year's service, two weeks after two years, three weeks after 10 years, four weeks after 15 years and five weeks after 20 years.

—One and one-half hours off for each hour worked, in lieu of overtime pay, if taking the time off is required.

—Discontinuance of the individual clothing allowance with uniforms to be provided and maintained (cleaned, pressed and repaired) by the police department.

Bargaining Agent

—Permission to live outside the city but within the limits of Outagamie County.

—20 parking stalls to be reserved in the East Ramp for policemen to park their private cars.

Max Hensel, personnel committee chairman, suggested the policemen's association go through the regular employe bargaining agent certification process.

He said the personnel com-

'Washer, Stove Dancing'

Neenah Woman Describes 1964 Alaskan Earthquake Experience

The earthquake that hit Anchorage, Alaska, in March, 1964 made the earth feel "like a ship weaving in a storm," Mrs. Gladys Milner told persons attending the annual meeting of the Outagamie County chapter of the Red Cross Wednesday.

Mrs. Milner, who now lives in Neenah, had spent five years in Alaska with her husband and three teen-age daughters. She said the original earthquake lasted five minutes, with 100 tremors being recorded within 48 hours after the original quake.

"I had just put supper on" Mrs. Milner said, "when the house started shaking." Her daughters went outside, but she stayed in the kitchen, "holding the cupboard doors shut so the dishes wouldn't fall out."

Mrs Milner told the audience her washing machine and stove were "dancing around the room." She finally went outside and lay on the ground until the quake was over. When Mrs. Milner went back into the house, she found beets on the ceiling and the walls. "I haven't eaten beets since," she said.

Extended Help

"It was fantastic the way teen-age boys and girls helped out," Mrs. Milner commented, as she told how everyone extended a helping hand to their neighbors.

She described, with the aid of slides, how houses and buildings had been twisted out of shape or had completely collapsed, and how streets and highways crumbled

She noted that even though the damage was extensive, it was not as great a tragedy as persons living in the rest of the United States imagined it to be. Mrs. Milner added that the people took the earthquake calmly, even though some lost their homes or businesses.

New Directors

New members of the chapter's board of directors were introduced, including Donald Morrissey, chairman; Phil Dixson, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert Zwicker, John Wall, Edward Merten, William Morrissey, Michael Burns, Mrs. Richard Tomm, William Shaw, Ivol Van Handel, Robert Weyenberg, Roy Peterson and Lloyd Taylor.

John Dixon, retiring chapter chairman, received a certificate from the National Red Cross for his service to the organization.

In his report, Dixon recommended establishment of a Junior Red Cross, encouragement of greater county-wide Red Cross participation, and requesting local organizations to enlist members in a volunteer "pool" so that the "growing demands of war work may be met successfully."

16-Year-Old Youth Admits Stealing 2 Cars in Appleton

A 16-year-old Appleton youth has admitted stealing two cars here this week. He was apprehended Wednesday.

The youth admitted stealing a 1962 Chevrolet owned by Lorella Griesbach, 319 E. Harris St., from the parking ramp at Division and Washington streets Monday, and a 1965 Chevrolet belonging to Richard E. Cox, 1706 N. Outagamie St., from the Appleton Coated Paper Co. Tuesday.

Both cars have been recovered undamaged. The youth admitted the car thefts while he was being questioned for the theft of several bicycles. He is being held in juvenile detention pending an appearance in juvenile court.

Allen Trudell, one-year-old son or Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Trudell, 127 N. Wilson St., Kimberly, faces open heart surgery at Madison Friday. The boy, who otherwise appears healthy, has a hole in his heart.

$5 Million School Cost to be Asked

$600,000 Deletion Sought For AHS East, Report to Say

A special report being prepared on the proposed Appleton High School East will recommend the overall cost be scaled down to $5 million, it was learned today.

The six-man committee selected to evaluate the proposed school project is expected to make its report public later in the week.

In its present form, the report urges the city council and board of education to arrive at a $5 million figure for building and equipping the school

The report, which apparently has triggered some disagreement, will indicate the council and four town chairmen who will be voting on the bond issue should let the school board know whether they will go for the $5 million figure

Revise Downward

While making no specific recommendations, the committee has said the $5.6 total can be revised downward by $600,000 through deletions, some expenditure deferrals and use of different materials.

Generally, the majority of the committee members agree with the school board's position that the proposed building meets educational requirements as set forth by the Appleton Public School system administration.

There is some disagreement, not mentioned in the report but discussed at committee meetings, over the physical requirements.

Serving on the evaluation committee are chairman Joseph Foley, retired chief engineer, Kimbrly Clark Corp.; Dr. Roy P. Whitney, board of education president; Ald. Paul Klemmer (11th), representing the council; Robert W Bues, public works director, and Walter Rugland, president, Aid Association for Lutherans.

Would Cost More

Foley could not be reached for comment this morning on the main items in the report, or when it will be released. Neither the mayor or city clerk's office at city hall received any report.

The committee has taken the position the round design of the academic part of the school layout will cost more but claims the added cost will be offset by other features

It says $600,000 can be eliminated from the capital expense of the proposed building.

The committee also feels the proposed school has features meeting the educational needs of Appleton and that the people

Teamsters Local Wins Representation Election

Truck Drivers Choose Appleton Group as Bargaining Unit at Kaukauna Concrete Firm

Teamsters Local 563 of Appleton won a union representation election Wednesday at the Kaukauna-based Murphy Concrete Products Co.

By a 26-7 vote, with three ballots challenged and reportedly not opened, the drivers selected the Teamsters to be their official bargaining agent.

Local 563 has been on strike against contractor suppliers throughout the Fox Cities since late August.

Since the strike the Murphy firm, which has operations at Kaukauna, Kimberly, New London, Clintonville, Black Creek and DePere, cornered most of the ready mix concrete market throughout the region.

Non-Union Firms Operate

Only non-union firms have been operating since the outset of the strike but union workers at job sites have refused to handle their materials.

Last month the Murphy employes petitioned for an election and it was scheduled by the National Labor Relations Board.

The Murphy Construction Co., also headquartered on Plank Road in Kaukauna, was not affected by the election. Only the drivers for Murphy Concrete Products were involved.

Supervising the election, held at three different polling stations, was Kenneth Rock from the NLRB office at Milwaukee.

Certification Needed

The next step will be certification of the election results, designating Teamsters Local 563 as the official bargaining agent. Bargaining for a contract will follow.

A spokesman for the building trades union honoring Teamster picket lines indicated today the Kaukauna firm's products would be considered non-union until a contract is in effect.

Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563, said as soon as the vote certification is completed, the bargaining group would meet with management.

Orville Murphy, president of the firm, could not be reached for comment.

Murphy Concrete Products Co. is not a member of the Fox Valley Contractor Suppliers Association now being struck by the Teamsters and Operating Engineers.

Kimberly-Clark Official Foresees Record Profits For 1965 Operations

NEENAH — Stimulated by a rise in backlog of industrial paper orders, increased strong demand for its consumer products and maintenance of current price levels, Kimberly-Clark should record profits this fiscal year higher than those of 1964, in the opinion of G Kenneth Crowell, executive vice president of the diversified papermaker.

In fiscal 1964 the 93-year-old company earned $3.44 per share on net sales of $577,392,000.

Crowell told members of the Investment Analysts Society of Chicago today that the depressed earnings for the past quarters were attributable to a combination of non-recurring events, including three major strikes — the company's first in more than 60 years. Earnings during the second half of the year are expected to rise, he said.

To keep abreast of the growth of markets, world-wide, as well as advances in pulp and paper technology, Kimberly - Clark expects to spend more than $90 million here and abroad in plant expansion.

Full Capacity

Crowell said the company's pulp and paper division mills, which manufacture printing and writing papers, were operating at full capacity and all consumer division mills were running at or near capacity.

Demand for the company's newsprint output is in excess of capacity necessitating expansion programs here and in Canada.

Richard Appert, vice president for newsprint, said despite recent headlined difficulties of the newspaper industry, American newspaper publishing was enjoying one of its best years This was reflected in the growing demand for K-C's own output. He pointed out that the average size of daily papers was up 4 per cent over 1964 and Sunday papers had jumped 9 per cent to an average of 162 pages during the first half.

As a result, he said, U S. consumption of newsprint will jump to 144 pounds per adult (20 years and over) up five pounds from 1964.

Kimberly - Clark has begun a $20 million expansion at its affiliate, Spruce Falls Power & Paper Co., Kapuskasing, Ontario, increasing capacity 50,000 tons annually, and will spend more than $20 million in an expansion at Coosa Pines, Ala., adding another 150,000 tons of capacity. Appert said

Foreign Growth

International vice president William Cross told the analysts that he believed Kimberly - Clark, more than any other U S. paper company, is "committed to direct and active participation in the fast-growing consumer paper products industry abroad." Within the last 10 years the company has created a global network of plants and affiliates comprising 47 producing mills in 24 countries employing 10,000 people and marketing company products in 125 countries

Total foreign sales of company products approaches $200 million annually While only a portion of this is reported here because the company only consolidates sales and earnings of those companies in which it holds two-thirds interest, Cross said it gave some yardstick of the potential of the market abroad.

Expansion programs, budgeted at some $50 million, include installation of new tissue machines at mills in Australia, France, South Africa, Philippines, Mexico and Japan. They will largely be financed in local currencies borrowed from foreign banks and financial institutions, in line with the Administration's efforts to restrict outflow of dollars, Cross said.

Product Development

Crowell pointed out that Kimberly-Clark was a consistent investor in research and development to create new products and averaged one of every $12 spent by the industry for R&D in the last five years Since 1960 the company has invested more than $26 million in research, the result of which was demonstrated in the past year when more than two dozen new consumer, commercial and industrial products were introduced to test or full national marketing.

Additions to the consumer products line ranged from new disposable kitchen towels to newly designed feminine hygiene products. Crowell also noted the spin-off from home to commercial and institutional areas of such household staples as table napkins, kitchen towels and bathroom tissues These are finding increasing use in commercial and industrial service areas such as hotels, hospitals and factories. He said the company had introduced five new disposable products for the medical and dental field.

The Kimberly-Clark executive detailed the market outlook for the prime areas in which the company is a major participant. For example, in 10 years the total consumer paper market (bathroom tissues, towels, feminine sanitary products, facial tissues and table napkins) is expected to grow by 80 per cent, Crowell said, representing a total U.S. market of nearly $2 billion.

Group Tours Kohler, Plastic Companies On Exchange Plan

SHEBOYGAN — Members of the Kaukauna Chamber of Commerce, here Wednesday as guests of the Sheboygan Chamber toured production facilities at the Kohler Co. in Kohler and the Plastics Engineering Co. here

The tours were part of the first half of an exchange program between the two chambers.

After a morning tour of the Kohler plant and a noon lunch with Kohler Co executives, the group visited the new University of Wisconsin Sheboygan Center, toured the plastics manufacturing plant, were guests for a hospitality hour at the Kingsbury Brewing Co and were dinner guests of the Sheboygan chamber at a supper club.

Kohler Tour

Facilities toured at Kohler included units for production of vitreous and enameled cast iron plumbing fixtures and fittings, air-cooled engines and electric plants; employe recreation areas and medical facilities and business offices.

At the plastics manufacturing firm, the group observed the process of raw materials, primarily coal and petroleum being transformed into powered plastics which is consumed by other industries in plastic products manufacturing.

When the Sheboygan chamber pays a return visit to Kaukauna in October they are expected to tour the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Badger Northland, Inc., Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co., and possibly the Kaukauna Klub Cheese Co.

Still Hospitalized

Baffled Police Cannot Tell How 80-Year-Old Man Got to Closet

NEENAH — Alois Ulrich is resting today at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital and continues to baffle police who are attempting to find how the aged man gained entry to a closet where he was found suffering from malnutrition Sept. 23.

Ulrich, an 80-year-old former baker, was found laying on the floor in a closet of Mrs. Elizabeth Ulrich's home, 114 E. Doty Ave., after friends reported to police he hadn't been seen for a few days. Mrs. Ulrich is a patient at Pleasant Acres, Winnebago County home for the aged.

Hospital authorities said Ulrich is non-communicative and a cronological order of events have not been established. Authorities said it is not known how Ulrich got to his sister-in-law's home or his means of gaining entrance. The home where police found him is directly south of his residence on the second floor of 113 E. Wisconsin Ave. It was only necessary for him to leave the rear of his property and be on the rear of the Doty Avenue property, police said.

Ulrich is responding to treatment and is in satisfactory condition at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, authorities said.

Police reported canned goods were available along with an abundance of crackers and sugar cookies at the Wisconsin Avenue address. They are unable to explain his suffering from malnutrition.

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County authorities have issued a detaining warrent for a Milwaukee man who has admitted being a part of the April 24, 1964, burglary of Eddie's Evergreen Marina on U.S. 41 in the Town of Oshkosh.

Police said Donald Ward, who has been under suspicion since being questioned two weeks after the burglary, is being held in Milwaukee on similar charges. They said he admitted the crime while being questioned on the Milwaukee charges

Guns valued at about $1,500 were taken and since have been sold in Milwaukee and are now being recovered by Milwaukee police.

Post Office Work Off to 'Good Start'

MENASHA — Construction crews have made "a good start" on the $433,000 modernization and expansion program of the post office, in spite of the strike against local concrete suppliers.

Supervisors on the job for the Ridahl Construction Co. of Minneapolis said the teamster's strike against the materials suppliers, now in its fifth week, has slowed building progress by about 70 per cent.

Menasha School Board Asks $1,471,829 Budget, Up 8 Pct.

MENASHA — A proposed $1,471,829 school budget, up 8 per cent over last year, was scrutinized Wednesday night by members of finance committees from the City of Menasha, Town of Menasha and the board of education.

The figure will call for an 11 per cent increase in the tax levy for school purposes or $1,200,500.

The actual expenditure figure for 1965 is $1,364,054. In 1965 $1,173,177 was raised by the local property tax and $271,020 was raised by other revenue sources such as testbook rentals, food services, fees, Federal, State and County Aids.

In the 1966 proposed budget $271,327 will be the estimated revenue from other sources, making the tax levy $127,300 more than 1965.

Approximately $30,500 was added to the 1965 actual budget receipts from a carry over of $8,100; a balance of $4,250 and a 1964 balance interest of $18,000. No figure is shown in these three accounts for the 1966 school year.

Sources of increased revenue in 1966 include $7,000 in additional receipts for food services; $1,000, elementary county aid; $9,000 in elementary state aids; $8,000 in high school state aid; $1,000 from state handicapped aid for the mentally handicapped and $1,700 from state aid to transportation.

Federal aid from the National Defense Education Act will be an estimated $1,500 next year. In 1965 $15,625 was received from this source to remodel the science laboratories at Menasha High School, and $2,100 for other projects. There is no provision in the 1966 budget for state aid for a speech correction program.

Major items in the 1966 expenditures are provisions to hire an accountant, $6,000; architect fees for planning a new elementary school, $5,000; research through the Cooperative Educational Service Agency, $5,000; degree changes on the teacher salary index plan, $2,500; additional teachers in the 1966 portion of the 1966-67 school year, $20,000 and increases in teachers salaries, elementary through high school, $50,192. These items account for $88,000 of the increase.

Hard Freeze Warnings Are Issued

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hard-freeze warnings were up in northern New Mexico today as blustery weather plaguing the high Plains and central Rockies spread southward.

The Weather Bureau also warned of a hard freeze in the northeastern plateau and northern mountains of Arizona as Denver — where an earthquake shook up residents Wednesday —shivered under a 2-inch blanket of snow.

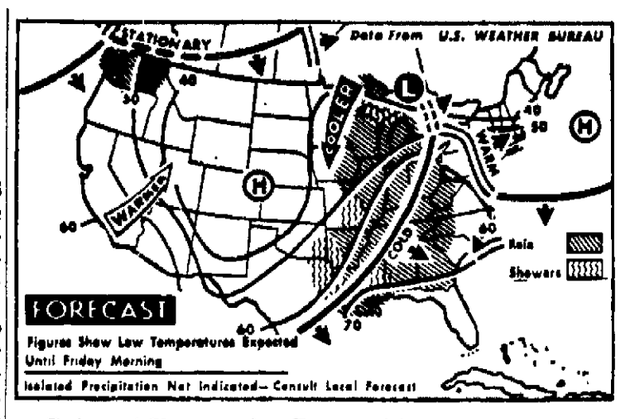
Snowfalls of 2 to 4 inches were in store for western South Dakota and Nebraska, the bureau said. Stockmen took measures to safeguard their animals as a driving rain, mixed with snow and whipped along by 35-mile-an-hour winds, soaked those states Wednesday night.

Rain drenched the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Occasional rain also washed down an area from the upper Mississippi Valley to the Dakotas and Kansas.

Tropical storm Debbie broke up south of the Mississippi coast Wednesday without causing expected damage, but the storm spawned heavy rains which caused flooding in parts of coastal Georgia. More than 5 inches of rain was reported at Glynco Naval Air Station, Ga., where all but essential operations were halted.

Wet snow continued to fall during the early morning in southeastern Wyoming, northeastern Colorado and the Nebraska Panhandle. Rain, with gusty winds, splashed across the northern and central Plains.

Temperatures dropped to the 30s in the Rockies and from the Dakotas to northeastern New Mexico. Early morning readings ranged from 27 at Butte, Mont., to 83 at Key West, Fla.



Rain and Showers Are Expected from the upper Mississippi valley and lakes area to the Gulf coast tonight and in the Pacific northwest. It will be warmer from the southern Pacific coast to the northern Rockies and cooler from the upper Lakes to the southern Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Library Budget At Kaukauna Set at $42,790

$42,054 Would be Raised Through City Tax Levy

KAUKAUNA — The library board has submitted a 1966 budget totaling $46,790 to the city council's finance committee. The tax levy would be $42,054.

Last year the total budget was $45,400, with $42,066 raised through taxes. Salaries account for $30,400 in the 1966 budget compared to $29,500 in 1965. Merit raises together with increased cost of social security and Wisconsin retirement contributions are listed as reasons for the increase.

Book additions and replacements for 1966 will cost $9,500 compared to $9,200 in 1965, reflecting increased book costs. Cost of periodicals and newspapers was increased from $800 to $1,000.

Other Items

Records, a new item in 1966 as the record program was initiated this year, will cost an estimated $600. Supplies were held at $1,300 and utilities were dropped from $1,800 to $1,650. Repairs and maintenance were held at $600, travel allowance at $400 and publicity was decreased from $200 to $100. Insurance costs were decreased from $700 to $540 through the purchase of a package insurance policy.

Capital improvement costs in 1965 amounted to $2,500 whereas $700 is asked for 1966. Board members feel it is impossible to do much improvement or innovation with the present facilities

Estimated receipts in 1966 include $3,986 from the county and $750 in fines Last year the city received $3,334 from the county and estimated fines were about the same The finance committee will study the proposed budget with that of other city departments.

Menasha Students Get Half Day Off During Teachers' Meeting

MENASHA—The 3,094 students in the Menasha Public Schools were dismissed at noon today so all teachers could take part in the first in-service meeting of the 1965-66 school year.

John Schilling, head of the audio-visual department at Menasha High School, presented a program on AV uses to members of the junior and senior high school teaching staffs.

Elementary teachers took part in a program presented by Raymond Feit, principal of Banta Elementary School, who had a special eight-week course in AV at the University of Wisconsin this summer.

New equipment, new techniques and implementation of audio visual aids in teaching at every level was the overall purpose of the in-service meeting today.

of this city want a good school for their children.

Swimming Pool

One of the major deletions that could be made, but not necessarily recommended, is the swimming pool. It will cost an estimated $300,000 to build but its deletion from the plans now would result in a $200,000 credit or saving, according to explanations at previous committee meetings.

The report says the building should not be redesigned, claiming that if this were to be done there would be additional architects' fees over the $170,000 already committed.

It says any further delay in building the school would cause more crowding at the existing school, and that during the two years it will take to build a new school the construction costs will have increased.

The committee says comparisons could not be made with other buildings on per pupil or per square feet costs, and that an attempt was made to do so.

It says the proposed school could be rated "very good to excellent" under educational standards. Building and room sizes meet present and future educational needs of the students, according to the majority report.

Seventy of George Behrendt's fellow officers gathered at the Appleton Club Wednesday night for a retirement party honoring the former detective lieutenant. Behrendt retired recently after serving 36 years on the Appleton police force, 17 of them as a detective. He was made lieutenant in 1957. Behrendt was presented a cash gift. With him are, left to right, Sgt. Robert Breckenridge and Lt. Robert Frailing, both detectives, Behrendt, Chief Earl O. Wolff, and Patrolmen William Forster and Earl Jackson. (Post-Crescent Photo) mittee frowned on supervisory employes belonging to a union or association and serving on bargaining committees.

The police representatives were informed that supervisory personnel, lieutenants up through chief, generally are not considered members of a bargaining unit.

Short of Men

Policemen claimed it was difficult to keep good "career men" on the department because most industries offered more pay, fringe benefits and better working hours. They said the department was short of men because of resignations. Six vacancies now exist.

They cited that in the past 20 years, the turnover was reflected in the fact that of 105 men hired, 42 resigned.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff told the committee requirements for being a policeman in Appleton have been upgraded and standards increased, making it harder to get men.

"The salary of a police officer is not commensurate with his duties and the decisions he must make," Wolff said.

The personnel committee said it would meet with the police representatives again Oct. 5 to begin negotiations.

Kaukauna Sets Homecoming

Grid Clash With Shawano, Parade, Major Attractions

KAUKAUNA — Major attraction for the festivities at Kaukauna High School Homecoming will be the 2 p.m. Saturday football game against the Shawano Indians.

The Homecoming parade will start at 10:15 a.m. Saturday. Units will line up on W. Wisconsin Avenue, proceed east to Lawe Street, south across the Lawe Street bridge to Second Street and then east to the Doty Bayorgeon Recreation area, site of the football game.

The four class floats will ring the field during the game. Other school organizations planning to enter floats include the Spanish Dramatics and Science Clubs. Reigning as queen will be Mary Peebles, senior. Members of her court, also seniors, will be Patty Tatro and Mary Lynn Haen.

Winners of float and window decorating competition will be announced during halftime at the game. The retail promotion group of the Chamber of Commerce presents the first place winners with a plaque while runnerups get honorable mention.

The queen and her court will reign over a dance from 8 to 11 p.m. Saturday in the old high school gym. Theme of the affair will be "Autumn Abstract."

Ward Election Rules Changed In Kaukauna

Committee Drafts Ordinance Covering Boundary Lines

KAUKAUNA — Changes in ward boundaries, approved earlier this year by the city council, have required its legislative committee to draft a new ordinance covering election procedures for the next several years. Boundary changes resulted in some aldermen being located in different wards.

No change resulted in the First, Second and Fifth Wards so one alderman will be elected in the spring of 1966 and another in the spring of 1967, both for 2-year terms, as has been the past practice.

The Fifth Ward currently has three aldermen, one of the Fouth having been incorporated into that area. An Alderman elected to office in the Third Ward found himself in the Fourth after realignment leaving the Third with only one representative.

Other Changes

Third ward voters therefore will elect two aldermen in the spring of 1966, the one getting the highest number of votes to serve for two years and runner-up one year. In the spring of 1967 voters will pick an alderman for a 2-year term.

Since the Fourth Ward has two aldermen whose terms expire in 1967, no alderman will be elected from that ward in 1966, but in 1967 one will be elected for a 1-year term and another for a 2-year term. In spring of 1968 an alderman will be elected for a 2-year term. Thereafter an alderman from each ward will be elected each year for a 2-year term.

Polls established by the committee are Park School for First and Second Ward voters and Nicolet School for Third, Fourth and Fifth Ward voters.

Art Gallery Opens Branch In Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — Hermit Island Galleries of Wausau and Minocqua, today announced the opening of a third branch to serve Weyauwega and the adjoining area.

The Weyauwega branch is located on the second floor of the Bauer Furniture Co., according to Mrs. Otto Tod Mallery Jr., of Wausau, who with her husband owns the Hermit Island Galleries.

Michael Teal of the Bauer Furniture Co. staff will serve as manager of the Weyauwega branch, which is being opened in time to serve persons attending the Horse and Buggy Days celebration here.

The gallery has on display oil and water-color paintings, as well as wood cuts, lithographs, etchings and serigraphs, silk screen fabrics, hand-made jewelry and woodcrafts.

Art advisers to the Hermit Island Galleries include three faculty members of the University of Wisconsin Art Department — James Schwalbach, Thomas Echtner and Richard Dahle. The advisory board assists in the selection and pricing of the art work.

Mrs. Mallory, who is president of the Art League for the Handicapped, Inc., said the gallery will also sell handicrafts made by handicapped persons, on a courtesy basis.

Ask Library To Head Needs At Kaukauna

tion difficult and an increase in the library staff, they noted.

They favored a single-story structure with a brick and precast concrete exterior. Estimated cost of all construction including electrical, plumbing, air conditioning, heating and ventilating was set at $268,800. Maintenance and operating costs in the new building would be much lower, they said.

The old building's existing basement would be used for a heating plant and periodical storage. Finance committee members questioned whether the library could be built adjacent to the present building, thus making it possible to utilize the old structure for some recreational purpose.

Others felt maybe other sites should be studied before deciding on construction. Some aldermen felt the $310,000 request should have been made prior to the recent $2 million bond issue, but others felt the city could float notes for the $310,000 and repay the loan in 10 years without having to bond.

No decision was reached, but library board members were asked to contact the architect for a meeting in late November or early December. All aldermen would be invited to ask specific questions about the new facility.

Long-Term Threat Looms Over India

Ambassador Asks U. S. Military Aid Before Red China Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian Ambassador B. K. Nehru said today his country faces a long-term threat from Red China and the United States should resume military aid shipments — without waiting for some new Chinese pressure — in order to strengthen Indian defenses against that threat.

Nehru also told The Associated Press in an interview that the use of American-supplied arms by Pakistan in its war with India "has caused ill feeling" in his country toward the United States.

And, Nehru claimed, Pakistan has lost the war with India. Hostilities were halted early this morning by a cease-fire. So far as India is concerned, Nehru said, the main result of the fighting has been to harden India's determination to hold on to the disputed territory of Kashmir. He virtually ruled out trying to solve the Kashmir problem through a plebiscite, saying, "We are not prepared any longer — after 18 years — to regard a solution proposed 18 years ago as being the correct solution of this problem."

Plebiscite Promised

In 1947, Viscount Mountbatten, then India's governor general, pledged a plebiscite when peace in them disrupted Kashmir was restored.

In 1949 India told the United Nations it would submit to a plebiscite — a referendum on sovereignty — in Kashmir provided Pakistan withdrew its forces from the disputed territory.

The plebiscite never was held. India contended Pakistan did not withdraw its troops Pakistan said it kept them there because India never intended to permit a plebiscite

While making these points, Nehru ridiculed Red China's assertion that India had yielded to its ultimatum of last week and destroyed 56 military positions in the Himalayan border region. He renewed India's charge that the Chinese Communists acted in collusion with Pakistan to divert Indian forces from the Pakistan warfront to the Chinese frontier. The collusion charge had been angrily denied by Pakistani spokesmen

The United States suspended military aid shipments to both India and Pakistan earlier this month When Red China began it of aggression on the Chinese frontier India asked that the embargo be lifted. Nehru said he was still waiting for a reply.

Nehru was asked if his government would request the United States to resume military aid in the event of new pressures from Red China.

"We would certainly ask the United States to resume military aid to India," he replied, "irrespective of the Chinese attacking us or not at this moment because the long-term threat continues. Whether they draw back now or not, the long-term threat that India has from China will continue for a very long time."

Nehru then argued that the U.S. embargo on arms shipments to his country was unjustified.

"Our contention is that the Pakistanis started the war," he said, "and we are the party that has been aggressed against. We are defending ourselves. And therefore there should never have been an arms embargo against us In any case we were not using American weapons We have lived up to our promises about the use of these arms"

In a speech here Wednesday Pakistan Ambassador Ghulam Ahmed said India, not Pakistan, was the aggressor. Thus, he said, while both India and Pakistan used U S.-supplied weapons in the fighting, Pakistan did not violate its promise to Washington that "these arms must not be used in aggression against the other side."

The United States originally supplied arms to Pakistan as an anti-Communist ally. It supplied India after India was attacked by Red China in 1962 In each case India and Pakistan promised that the arms would not be used against each other Nehru was asked if India would object if the United States resumed military aid to Pakistan.

"It is for the United States to decide what arms aid policy it wants to follow," he said. "It has to decide these things in its own global interests, but we hope it will take into consideration the local effects of its policy.

"As far as India is concerned, I don't think there could have been any greater test of good faith than our nonuse of these arms (U.S.-supplied weapons) in this fight. We have shown that we want to defend ourselves against China. Now if the United States still feels after all that has happened and all that is happening — and the absolutely clear evidence of collusion between China and Pakistan — that rearming of Pakistan will help in the containment of China, then of course it is for the United States to rearm Pakistan again"

Nehru was questioned about the state of relations between India and the United States in the light of the U.S. policy of neutrality in the India-Pakistan war

He said these relations had been good for a long time and that Indians deeply appreciated U S. economic support and U S help at the time of the Chinese attack in 1962.

"The present situation, the present attack by Pakistan on us, however," he continued, "we feel could not possibly have taken place if the United States had not given this enormous amount of military aid to Pakistan over the last 11 years. It is only the possession of these arms and weapons that has enabled Pakistan to mount this attack in the hope that it would be successful.

"If these weapons had not been there, there would have been no attack. The realization of this fact has caused an ill feeling in India, particularly as we have been assured over the years since 1954 — first by President Eisenhower, then by Mr. Dulles, then by a whole succession of American officials — that these arms which were meant to be used against the Chinese, against Communistic expansion, would not be used against us."

Anticipate Short Fall Session by State Legislature

Expect Measure Permitting Longer Trucks to be Shelved

By HARVEY BREUSCHER
Associated Pres Writer

MADISON (AP)—Party leaders plan a short fall session of the Legislature and see no time for resolving the controversy over permitting longer and heavier trucks on Wisconsin roads

If the eye shields can be kept in place, the issue will be bypassed at least until the spring meeting the Assembly's Democratic majority is sure to insist upon.

The Assembly touched off the controversy when it approved extending truck length limits 10 feet to a maximum of 65. The 53-41 vote jolted opponents and turned up so much heat sponsors decided not to try a Senate vote before the summer recess was called July 31.

Reconvenes Monday

The Legislature reconvenes at 1 p m. Monday. For the truck bill the interim apparently has not been long enough

I'd like to see a three-week session and I don't believe that can be accomplished if we get into such highly controversial legislation " said Senate Republican floorleader Robert Knowles of New Richmond

The assistant Democratic floorleader, Sen Fred Risser of Madison, added the view that "sentiment against the truck bill is building and supporters are having second thoughts "

The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association wants the truck length extension and it operates one of the strongest lobbies in the Legislature. But Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles reportedly is just as insistent that the bill doesn't reach his desk this fall

Other Matters

There is plenty of other legislation to occupy lawmakers if they want a way out. More than 1,000 bills remain from the initial session and eight vetoes from the governor wait to be sustained.

Knowles is expected to tell the lawmakers next week what he wants accomplished in the fall session. The date of the special message has not been set.

The governor reportedly will call for Senate approval of an open housing bill already passed by the Assembly, and enactment of legislation to curb lake and stream pollution

The housing bill would prohibit discrimination in sales and rentals but would not apply to existing one to four family dwellings which are owner occupied.

Housing Measure

There are predictions from all quarters that the measure will pass

In addition to the governor's list, the lawmakers will have to give attention to a $425 million highway budget that was set aside in the rush to a summer recess The spending is balanced by gasoline taxes and license fees.

Also regarded as a must, is a bill sponsored by Assemblyman George Molinaro, D - Kenosha, that would put the Conservation Department in control of the abandoned Bong Air Force Base and lead to the establishment of a new state park in Racine and Kenosha counties.

Assembly speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis, and Sen. Knowles are in accord on holding the fall session to three weeks, and they have the help of several outside factors.

Other Activities

Assemblymen have $15 a day expense payments coming for only 18 more days, and while hunting season and the hanksgiving holiday make November a poor month for some to be away, a number of Wisconsin lawmakers are counting on a week's stay in Puerto Rico attending the National Conference of Legislative Leaders

There is no agreement on how the three weeks in October should conclude Republicans want a final adjournment of the 1965 Legislature. Democrats will demand a spring meeting

Among other things, the party seeking to regain the governor's chair wants to remain current on tax receipts estimates just in case an election year cut is warranted

Mr. and Mrs. John Vukovich of Milwaukee are shown in office of Dist. Atty. Hugh O'Connell today as Mrs. Vukovich was charged with first degree murder in the death of her 20-month-old daughter. Mrs. Vukovich, 24, told detectives and Paul Danko, investigator for the medical examiner, she hurled the child twice from a third floor apartment, then ran water over her in a bathtub to make certain the child was dead. Mrs. Vukovich said, "I hope they throw the book at me." (AP Wirephoto)

Charge Mother With Murder in Death of Child

Hurled Daughter From Building Two Times, Drowned Her

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Sure I'm sorry," said a young Milwaukee mother charged with first degree murder Wednesday in the slaying of her 20-month-old daughter. "But it's too late now to be sorry."

Mrs. Joanne Vukovich, 24, made the comment to a reporter after being taken into custody in the death of her daughter, Susan.

The housewife told authorities that she hurled Susan twice from her third floor apartment, then placed the unconscious child in a bathtub filled with water.

The county medical examiner's office said Susan had suffered a broken nose, numerous bruises and a possible laceration of the liver in her two falls from 25 feet. Death was due to drowning, the office said.

Refused to Eat

Police said Mrs. Vukovich, wife of an unemployed laborer, told them she was angry because Susan refused to eat

Police said a neighbor, Mrs Hannah Myer, 74, called them to the apartment building. Mrs Myer told police that Mrs. Vukovich came to her door and said, "I killed my little girl." Mrs. Myer replied, "Are you kidding?"

She said Mrs. Vukovich answered, "No, I'm not. I drowned her. Call the police."

First Degree Murder

After Dist. Atty. Hugh R. O'Connell obtained a first degree murder warrant, Mrs. Vukovich was brought before County Judge Christ T. Seraphim, who set bail at $25,000.

The woman said she did not want a lawyer "I just want to be sentenced and go to jail. I don't care for how long. If I get life, I get life I don't care."

Mrs Vukovich's surviving 4-months-old daughter was turned over to welfare authorities

Mrs. Vukovich's husband, John, told a reporter, "She has always been a good wife. I love her and will stick by her."

State Report Indicates

Lack of Housing Slows Area Economic Growth

MADISON (AP) — Lack of housing is slowing economic growth in some eastern Wisconsin industrial areas, the State Department of Resource Development reported Wednesday.

"Manufacturers need additional employes in order to meet the demand for their products and they are unable to hire enough people in their areas," the agency said in its current newsletter.

The department's division of economic development said it had numerous calls from spokesmen of eastern Wisconsin firms who have decided that further expansion at present sites is impractical and that they must build branch plants in central and western parts of the state.

Go to Workers

"They reason that they must go to the workers if they can't get workers to come to them," the division said

The report quoted Lawrence Katz, director of the Federal Housing Administration's Wisconsin office as saying that "I find that housing shortage problems are definitely hampering industrial development in many communities "

The report said attempts to recruit workers from northern and rural areas have not been fruitful because workers, unable to find housing for their families, are inclined to quit and go home.

No One Solution

The publication said there is no one solution that can be applied state-wide and suggested that one answer would be in more lower and medium priced housing

"Local industrial development corporations might take the lead in some instances, for quite a few communities are in a position that for want of workers they could not accommodate a new industry of any size," it added.

Will Meet Again

Rusk, Gromyko Dinner Shows No Thaw Signs

By LEWIS GULICK

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko talked about disarmament and the India-Pakistan conflict Wednesday night without producing any noticeable thaw in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The two did agree to meet again Friday night, at the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. Mission

This was in line with advance predictions. In their initial meeting, a three-hour dinner at Rusk's hotel suite, the two engaged in what U.S. sources described as a general "feeling out" of their diplomatic positions.

Relaxed, Friendly

"Relaxed," "friendly" and "businesslike" were terms applied to the first such U.S.-Soviet discussions since Rusk and Gromyko attended the last U.N. General Assembly session in December 1964.

A chilling note arrived from Moscow just as the talks began. Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev declared that "the armed aggression of American imperialism" in Viet Nam imposed "a clearly evident tendency toward freezing" of Soviet-American relations.

U.S. officials downgraded this as Kremlin propaganda for Communist consumption. But it fit a pattern of Soviet gruffness on a number of fronts ranging from anti-American propaganda invective to harassment of U.S.-Soviet cultural exchanges.

Tougher Sounding

The current interpretation by U.S. officials is that Moscow, caught up in its rivalry with Peking for leadership of the Communist camp, is being pressed into tougher-sounding positions than it would prefer. The Red Chinese are accusing the Kremlin of collaborating with Washington.

Gromyko declined to comment to newsmen Wednesday night about Brezhnev's speech Nor would he say there had been "progress" in U.S.-Soviet relations from his talk with Rusk.

'I would prefer not to answer such questions," he said.

Home Rule Bill Gets House Ax

Substitute Measure Orders Referendum In Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home rule for the District of Columbia, in the form President Johnson pushed with all the powers of his office, is dead for this year.

A rebellious House, after passing all the major bills the President asked for this year, gave his home-rule plan the ax Wednesday.

Instead, it approved a substitute plan calling for a referendum by District residents and the setting up of a charter commission to study the type of self-government the city should have.

Commission Form

The capital now is governed by Congress and a three-man commission appointed by the president.

Home-rule supporters, faced with the choice of the substitute plan or nothing, backed the substitute offered by Rep. B F. Sisk, D-Calif. The final vote was 283 to 117

The Senate already has passed the administration home-rule bill calling for direct election of a mayor and City Council next year.

Said Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate District Committee: "The Sisk bill and the Senate bill seem so far apart I don't see how they can be reconciled "

Bible said, however, that if the White House indicates it wants the Sisk bill "the Senate might take another look at it "

House Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma was pessimistic.

"We won't get a bill this year, and we will be lucky to get one next year," he told reporters after the House vote. "It's a dead duck for this session."

Milwaukee Man Shot in Apparent Hold-Up Attempt

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A liquor store owner was shot and fatally wounded Wednesday night apparently by would-be holdup men, police said.

The victim, Charles Kahn, 61, died of a shotgun wound in the abdomen

Police were seeking two white youths reportedly seen fleeing the store shortly after the shooting

Although police believe robbery was the motive, nothing appeared to be missing from the store Kahn's wallet containing $88 was untouched

Cuspidor Supply Cut for Legislators

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — There will be only a few cuspidors for the desks of members of the State Legislature when the 1967 session rolls around.

The state has been selling the spittoons for as much as $17 each. A group with a passion for things of the past snapped up 150. Sales have brought in almost $2,000

Only a handful will be kept for legislators who demand them

Soviets Will Continue Aid to North Viet Nam

By FRED COLEMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The war in Viet Nam is freezing Soviet-American relations and the Soviet Union will continue to supply military aid to North Viet Nam, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev says.

Reviewing Soviet foreign policy before the party central committee Wednesday, the bushy-browed first secretary also held out an olive branch to Red China.

Brezhnev said the war in Viet Nam "greatly complicated" Soviet relations with the United States and those relations "show a clearly evident tendency toward freezing "

"Normalization of our relations is incompatible with the armed aggression of American imperialism against a fraternal Socialist country — Viet Nam," he said

Abandon Aggression

"The nature of the further development of our relations with the United States will depend on whether or not the leaders of this country will show enough common sense to abandon the policy of aggressive attacks "

U S officials in Washington found nothing surprising in Brezhnev's speech For months, U S leaders have recognized that there is no prospect for substantial improvement in U S-Soviet relations while the two governments are so sharply divided over the war in Viet Nam

Brezhnev said that the Soviet Union, as "the strongest and best developed Socialist power," had already given Communist North Viet Nam considerable military aid.

Aid to Continue

"This aid will be continued," he said.

Brezhnev said that British support of American policy in Viet Nam also "substantially hampered" Moscow's relations with London.

He again attacked West German "militarism" and warned that the Warsaw Pact nations of Communist Eastern Europe would take steps to strengthen their defense He said there are "no possibilities for fruitful development of relations with West Germany" even though trade continues.

Brezhnev again insisted that since last October, when Nikita Khrushchev was deposed, Moscow had attempted to restore unity with Red China but "unfortunately we were not supported by the leaders of the Communist Party of China "

To Red China

Nevertheless, he said, "we must consistently continue to search for the ways of settling the disagreement and consolidating friendship and cooperation between the Soviet and Chinese peoples, between our parties and countries "

The central committee, ending a three-day meeting, gave aproval to the sweeping economic reforms Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N Kosygin have charted since they toppled Khrushchev The two men appeared to have strengthened their holds on the top of the Kremlin command.

Brezhnev in his 15,000-word speech reiterated the main proposals for economic reform first presented by Kosygin.

They are

Economic Reform

An attempt to run Soviet industry on a profit-motive basis by loosening some central controls and giving factory bosses more leeway to improve quality and sales.

A program of new incentives for workers to give them a direct stake in building communism.

Budget of $100 Billion Now Only Thing of Past

BY SYLVIA PORTER

At one minute after midnight June 30, the $99.7 billion spending budget President Johnson submitted in January for this current 1966 fiscal year went into effect.

At some never-to-be-known minute not many days later, that administrative budget was obsolete. Federal government spending had forever crossed the historic mark of $100 billion a year. A new era of $100 billion-plus federal budgets had opened.

Today, with only three months of the 12 months of fiscal 1966 behind us, spending probably already is in the $102 billion to $104 billion annual range.

Within the next 100 days, when Johnson must firm up the budget he'll submit this coming January for the 1967 fiscal year, the spending total is likely to be at least in the $107 billion area. It easily could be billions higher.

Porter

This is and will be so despite President Johnson's well-publicized efforts to limit increases in federal spending in order to allow room for periodic tax cuts and, at the same time, to reassure the businessmen of this country and the bankers of the world that the U.S. government is pursuing fiscally sound policies.

This is and will be so despite the fact that Budget Director Charles L. Schultze has instructed all agencies to prune their spending plans, to make a "rigorous and searching quest" for savings, to eliminate outdated programs.

This is and will be so even if the Viet Nam war and other world crises do not put much harsher strains than are now anticipated on our defense budget.

Not Out of Control

Does it mean that federal spending is getting out of control? No! Of course, the piercing of the $100 billion level symbolizes our swelling budget in dollar terms. Of course, it reflects the fact that as our population grows and our nation expands federal government spending must rise too.

Also, it's unrealistic to assume that the budget buildup is due primarily to our Viet Nam war expenses. More important is the simple fact that Congress has been substantially increasing the costs of non-military programs requested by the President — has voted outlays running hundreds of millions of dollars above what the administration asked for programs ranging from public works and poverty to housing and aid to schools.

But despite the awesome absolute dollar totals, the crucial point is that, in terms of the size of our economy, $100 billion-plus annual federal budgets are actually "smaller" budgets than those of most post-World War II years—and the only sensible way to judge the size of a federal budget is to measure it against the size of the U.S. economy.

Lowest Percentage

The budget as a percentage of Gross National Product (the total of all the goods and services we produce) is at the lowest level in 15 years. Its ratio to GNP today is well below 15 per cent, against a ratio to GNP of over 20 per cent in the mid-50s and a ratio to GNP of more than 45 per cent at the end of World War II.

What, then, does the rising budget total mean to you and me?

It means that a new stimulus to our economy is now coming from stepped up federal government spending both for military and civilian purposes. For the first time in years, federal spending increases will be perceptibly fueling the economic upturn.

It means that our chance of getting another income tax cut next year has dwindled to next to zero. With business spending climbing sharply, with consumer spending booming and with federal government spending now climbing as well, there seems little justification for accelerating the upswing with new tax cuts soon.

It means that, by accident and design, we are keeping this remarkably solid upturn alive for a longer period than the wildest optimists dared dream and that our economy expansion—entering its 56th month tomorrow—is safe for the foreseeable future.

Alice's Queen struck an imperious, despotic pose. There was no appeal possible. The King, the Queen and the executioner were present, in addition to the prisoners, of course. And tearful Alice. But these were all.

No jury, no public, no publicity. That last, most significantly. No newspaper reporters. Newspapers have no place in an autocracy. In Alice's chilling wonderland any spontaneous reaction — even applause, was "immediately suppressed by the officers of the court."

Not so in our day, in real-life America, 1965. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the rights of a public trial, says the Sixth Article of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution.

Not only is the accused assured a public trial, but, so people may know what is happening, newspapers must report these trials.

Freedom of the press? No. This is responsibility of the press . . . a solemn duty to report to the people the activities of the courts of the people.

Newspapers have no special importance as newspapers. Only as regards the services they render the reading public. Newspapers have no extraordinary rights. People do. And newspapers, with the stark basic drama of black and white, protect these rights.

Men have the right to a public trial and the right to know what happens in courtrooms. These are rights written into the Constitution and affirmed by the Supreme Court in 1829 when Mr. Justice Bagley wrote: "It is one of the essential qualities of a court of justice that its proceedings should be public."

The light of publicity reveals much that would otherwise flourish foully in the dark. It is the bright white light which searches out the dark corners of abuses wherever they may occur.

Committee Chooses to Keep Runge; Might Disappoint Gov. Knowles

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Gov. Warren P. Knowles is likely to be disappointed, when he returns from his European trade mission travels, to find that the reorganized Coordinating Committee which he thought would follow his wishes for a "new look" in higher education appeared to ignore them in the first of the important political policy questions to come before it last week.

The governor had pointedly expressed his hope that the reconstituted Committee, in the interests of a detached survey of educational problems, future growth and expenditures, would recruit an absolutely independent staff of professional employes. But the Committee at its first session, in a closed meeting, decided to keep on Carlisle Runge of the previous staff. The selection was described as "pro tempore", but the announcement also took pains to say that Runge would be eligible to compete for the permanent appointment later.

A Qualified Man

Runge is an able and qualified man, with many friends who have respected his achievements and appreciate his personal qualities

But he is inextricably identified with his past employment at the University of Wisconsin, which is one of the central elements of the higher education program. The issue is whether Runge could divorce himself from his previous associations, aspirations and loyalties. Gov. Knowles clearly had his doubts and preferred a new man, and preferably a complete outsider.

The question of residence is more important to politicians than most other people. To the politician "residence" does not mean the place where he hangs his hat, takes his meals, or pays rent on an apartment for his family, but the place where he votes.

Chairman Louis Hanson of the Wisconsin Democratic party state committee pens a note to declare firmly that in spite of his recent marriage to a resident of Madison and his employment in the capital city job for at least three quarters of his time "I plan to remain a resident of the town of Marengo, county of Ashland."

"I am happy to say that I shall remain as provincial as any resident of the town of Marengo, county of Ashland, who has travelled rather extensively," adds the man who is believed by many of his associates to have in mind another candidacy for 10th district congressman, some day.

Sensitive Area

One indication of the sensitivity within the big higher educational system about the policy directions of the new Coordinating Committee under the chairmanship of former Gov Walter J. Kohler was offered in a sidelight at the first meeting.

Members of the Committee broke up for a brief lunch period in the basement cafeteria in the University of Wisconsin Center building and as members, institution presidents, deans, ranking administrators, numerous reporters and other on-lookers carried their platters to their tables they observed empty seats at Kohler's table. Who would occupy them? Most of the watchers were not especially surprised when one of the occupants turned out to be President Fred H. Harrington of the University of Wisconsin.

Truck Length Bill

Some private estimates from qualified sources indicate that the truck length increase bill of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, in spite of a comparatively easy approval in the state assembly several months ago, is unlikely to become law this year.

Opponents have apparently done an effective job in worrying the politicians, some of whom are disturbed at the possibility that the issue may confront them in the 1966 election campaigns. The private motorist has a built-in dislike for large commercial freighters on the highways, and the issue is such a complex one that it is easy to distort, on the one hand and comparatively difficult to explain clearly, on the other.

State Nomination

The early declaration of Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells that he intends to campaign for another nomination for lieutenant governor, the office he held for one term two years ago, is universally taken for what it is—an effort to discourage other contenders for the Republican nomination a year from now.

Olson's pointed reference to the fact that the last Republican convention by resolution invited him to seek high state office again was an oblique reminder that he should be the favorite for the Republican state convention endorsement in 1966—which is undoubtedly a valid assumption.

Surprising Declaration

Most politicians, including many well-placed in his own party, are astonished by the gratuitous declaration of David Carley, the presumptive candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, that he is opposed to the segregation of highway tax receipts for highway improvement purposes

It is doubtful that there is another front-ranking politician who would make such a statement not because of the courage or lack there-of that might be involved, but because it does not appear to them to be an issue. Segregation was achieved by law 20 years ago this year. It has not been seriously challenged since Most rank and file voters are probably not well informed on the theoretical questions involved. But there are numerous and powerful groups and individuals who are precisely informed, and almost to a man they want to continue things as they are.

Develop New Talents With Cornhusk Handicraft

BY CAPPY DICK

Clever things can be made from dried cornhusks Belts, table mats and bookmarks are typical articles any boy or girl can produce.

Choose husks that are long and of good color If you intend to make a braided object, cut the husks into strips about an inch wide At best, husks are not very long so the pieces will have to be spliced often before you start braiding Do this by laying the end of one piece inside the end of the next and fastening the two together with a bit of fast-drying glue

To make a braided table mat like that in Figure 2, sew narrow braids together, circling them around and around as you would do when making an ordinary braided rug of rags

A woven place mat like that in Figure 1 is made of husk strips about an inch wide When the weaving has been completed, use glue to fasten the strips together at the last point where each pair crosses The ends of each strip can be fringed with scissors, if you wish

A bookmark (Figure 3) is easy to make from a choice husk Cut it to the shape you desire, fringe it at one end, dampen it and press it under a heavy weight so it becomes perfectly flat Paint a design on the dried husk, or draw one with ink

The Sound of Music

37 Million in U. S. Take Part

By MAGGIE SAVOY

NEW YORK (AP) — With music, good music all around — the world's finest symphonies in stereo at the touch of a record player or radio button and the orchestral music piped into elevators, factories, hotel rooms — who is going to knock out his own discordant chords on a piano or guitar?

Only more than 37 million Americans: Almost twice as many as 15 years ago.

Do-it-yourself music may not sound like Isaac Stern or Artur Rubinstein, but it's booming in homes, chamber music ensembles, neighborhood bands, amateur symphonies and rock 'n' roll combos across the country in a resounding — if not perfectly sounding — swell.

Heavy Spending

Some statistics show that last year more money was spent on musical instruments and sheet music than on all spectator sports, cameras, comic books and playing cards put together.

From prekindergarten sonny piping on his "C" melody flute to symphonies of executives and doctors to granddad belting out "Home, Sweet Home" on his electronic organ, homemade music fills the air.

Why this boom in do-it-yourself music?

"People have found out that almost anyone can play," says Marion C. Egbert, educational consultant for American Music Conference.

New teachig methods, new mechanical and electronic teaching machines and instruments, have taken the chore out of music and put the fun back in, for the balky boy and his house-weary mom too. Rediscovery of the recorder, an uncomplicated flute-like instrument of Shakespeare's time, has inspired many a harmony quartet. And the great rock 'n' roll epidemic has tripled guitar sales in the past decade.

"Play it by ear," is the advice of Egbert, who tours the country conducting clinics and music workhops for teachers, to fill the vaulting demand for music workshops for teachers, to fill classes that begin with kindergarten rhythm bands and continue through college symphonies.

Adults Too

Only a third of the country's burgeoning number of music amateurs are school age. Some are studying toward careers, others are playing for fun in some 63,000 school instrumental music organizations or 280 summer music camps.

The rest are adults, some expert enough to play in America's 1,400 amateur symphonies, 470 community bands, 1,700 industry-supported music groups.

Chamber music buffs have become so numerous that the Amateur Chamber Music Players publishes a world-wide directory so vacationers or traveling salesmen can find music wherever they go.

"Get-together" groups are all over the country. "The Many Splendored Stompers," all Madison Avenue and executives began with after-work jam sessions, now perform for dances. The "Par 40's" do the same in Knoxville; a group of New York publishing executives has organized "The Oldest Established Floating Dixieland Jazz Band East of the Mississippi."

In Kansas City, 70 doctors and their wives formed the "Medical Arts Symphony," which Leopold Shopmaker, conductor of the Kansas City Symphony, coaches in his spare time. The Chicago Businessmen's Orchestra gives three concerts a year. The Business and Professional Women's Club of Laconia N.H., has its own symphony; the Boston Women's Symphony, made up of business women and housewives, made a recent debut.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

No. Some of America's elderly have too little to live on comfortably. But the average older family members have money they can call their own. Recent figures show that the net worth (assets, minus personal debt) of the average family whose head is at least 65 exceeds $30,000. This is much more than younger families have, with the exception of those whose head is from 55 to 64. Older families tend to have more of their money in liquid assets that can easily be turned into cash — making the elderly one of our big markets in America.

True— False—

True. A little child learns through his sensory experiences. In a good nursery school, there are plenty of opportunities for children to experience new sensations and become aware of new impressions. The teacher may say, "How does it feel?" "How does it smell?" "How does it taste?" "Can you hear it?" "Is it loud?" "Is it quiet?" By learning to distinguish different sounds and feelings and tastes, a child's understanding grows, and he develops with it. This is the big reason why little children have to handle and taste and feel anything they can get their hands on — only thus do they learn.

Photo Finisher Warns Public To Use Cameras Judiciously

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have something to say to the great American public and I know of no better way to reach them than through your column.

I work in a large drug store as a photo finisher for color snapshots. Every day I see thousands of pictures. I am one of four finishers so you can multiply my story by four, and keep in mind; ours is only one drug store and there are thousands in the country.

It is shocking how many people take pictures of half-dressed and undressed people and gag shots which are in shocking taste. Some of the stuff is downright pornographic.

Well-known people in this town keep bringing in film which would shock a mule-skinner. I realize Ann, that a person has to be a little sick to take these pictures in the first place, but if they knew how many pairs of eyes saw them before they left the drug store, they'd be a whole lot sicker. — Your Friendly Finisher.

Dear Friendly: Your letter should be a flag to these sick exhibitionists. A not-so-friendly finisher could finish a few careers if he felt so inclined.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are torn between his loyalty to his parents and an opportunity to advance in his firm. We don't promise to take your advice but we'd like to hear what you have to say.

John and I have been married six years. We have three children. John's parents live two blocks from us. They are good people, not the interfering type, and we all get along fine. The problem is they have few friends and no interests other than our family. Their lives are centered around us and our children.

John's company wants to send him to another state as a district manager. It would mean an impressive promotion and a substantial salary increase. My father-in-law says if John will pass it up and remain here he will make up the financial difference. He says money isn't everything and their lives will be empty without us. Comment please. — Torn

Dear Torn: True. Money isn't everything — but there's more involved here than money. Like independence. It is unfair of John's parents to try to keep him from advancing because they want him in town.

Landers

I believe he should accept the promotion. His parents can come to visit you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother has a friend who has had two years of psychology. She thinks this makes her an authority on everything.

This friend has turned my mother against several of my boy friends because according to her, "You can tell all about a person by studying his face."

Tom was sneaky, she said because his eyes were close together. Harold would never make a good living because he had a receding chin which was a sign of weakness.

Bill's forehead was low, which meant he was not intelligent.

Bob was mean and stingy. She could tell this from his thin lips.

Chuck, she insisted, came from peasant stock because his neck was thick and his hands were large.

Ben, she warned me, had murder in his heart, as evidenced by his stubby thumbs.

Is there anything to this? Please say yes or no. Thank you. — Mercedes

Dear Mercedes: No. And you're welcome.

Law Needed To Stop Two Bad Suits

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Any congressman who wants to be reelected should introduce a law to prohibit two suits from breaking badly in the same hand. Something has to be done about this, or half the bridge players in the country will go broke.

South ruffed the second heart, drew three rounds of trumps and led out two top diamonds. East's heart discard was a shock.

Since South's trumps were all gone he could not ruff out the jack of diamonds and still get back to his hand for the rest of the suit. He cashed the queen of diamonds to discard a spade from dummy and tried the spade finesse in the hope of limiting the spade loss to one trick.

No luck. The spades broke badly, and South was down one.

If you're not running for reelection you might point out that South's contract is cold against any break and that he doesn't need a law to protect him.

MUST FINESSE

South should draw three rounds of trumps ending in the dummy and then lead a diamond to finesse with the ten. The contract is safe whether the finesse wins or loses.

If the finesse wins, South can take three more diamonds to discard two low spades from dummy. Then he leads spades, giving up one spade trick at most.

If the diamond finesse loses, South can take the spade return with dummy's ace and lead dummy's other diamond to run the rest of the suit. South discards all of dummy's low spades on the diamonds, and ruffs his spade at the end with dummy's last trump.

Any politician who gets technical about hands like this can't expect to get the bridge playing vote — unless he introduces an even better law — to abolish the number 1,400.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S A Q J 6 4, H Q 7, D 5 3, C Q 10 9 5. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid, largely because the two unsupported queens are not really worth 2 points each. If you changed the queen of hearts to a small heart and the queen of clubs to the ace of clubs, the point count would be unchanged, but the hand would then be worth an opening bid of one spade.

To order A POCKET GUIDE TO BRIDGE send 50 cents to The Post-Crescent Box 3318, Grand Central Station, N.Y. N.Y. 10017. It covers bidding conventions, point count, etc.

Needn't Ban Piranha From Georgia Waters

ATLANTA, Ga (AP) — The Greater Atlanta Aquarium Society says the possibility of flesh-eating piranha fish surviving in Georgia waters is just a lot of "bizarre publicity" brought on by state officials.

In a letter to Atty Gen. Arthur K Bolton, Tuesday, the society said the piranha lives only in warm water, generally above 70 degrees, and has very little tolerance to change in temperatures "This means any piranha living in Georgia waters would die when fall and winter came," the letter added

The society told Bolton, who has suggested a law to ban the fish from the state, "if legislation of this nature was to become law, the way would be open to prohibiting saber-tooth tigers, dinosaurs and dodo birds"

How Best to Tell Child She's Adopted Puzzles Her Parent

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: How best can we tell our child she's adopted? She's 5 years old and we have had her since she was 4 days old. We love her dearly and are probably worrying needlessly, but we want to give her the right answers when she comes up with any adoption questions. Mrs. R. E.

One of the best times to tell a child she's adopted is when she asks questions about where babies come from and where she came from—that's usually when a child is about 2 or 3 years old.

In view of the fact that you have already passed up this opportunity, why not let the matter go until your daughter is ready for college or marriage? By then, she'll be mature enough to understand what adoption means. You probably haven't wanted to let her know and you don't seem to be worried that neighbors or relatives will tell her about the adoption accidentally, so there's no real advantage to making a point of this now.

Dear Dr. Jones: How to go about telling our son about sex and just how much to tell him before he hears it all from the boys he plays with puzzles me. He's 13 years old and has never asked me any questions about sex yet. My husband and I agree that we want our boy to have the right outlook and understanding about sex, so please tell us what to say to our son. Mrs. R. A.

You're fooling yourself by thinking he has no information or attitudes about sex as yet. If nothing else, he has learned, from your years of silence about this topic, that it's embarrassing and bothersome in some way and that he shouldn't ask questions about it. And if his friends are ordinary boys just entering puberty, they have probably filled his ears with all sorts of ideas, correct and distorted.

Throw Away Your Denture Adhesive
New Dental Discovery Ends Need for Pastes and Powders

New York, N. Y. (Special) — After years of research, scientists have discovered an entirely new substance to make false teeth fit perfectly. Denture wearers report such success with this new substance in refitting loose dentures that they no longer need paste and powder adhesives.

This new dental discovery is a soft, pliable plastic that is applied directly to dentures from the tube. User then inserts dentures into mouth and bites down. Instantly this new substance molds to the exact contours of mouth and gums, holding dentures firmly in place through soothing suction — so powerful that even those with difficult lowers can laugh, talk and eat anything with complete confidence. Looseness, slipping, and clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts weeks, staying soft and pliable in use. Nightly cleansing does not wash it away, yet it is easily removed when desired. This substance now makes it possible to refit and reline worn dentures at home, saving over $100 on costly relining work.

This new substance is now available at drugstores under the name CUSHION GRIPS, with a full money-back guarantee. Get CUSHION GRIP today and end the need for paste and powder adhesives forever!

Busy Louis Armstrong May Retire Next Year

Jazz Trumpeter in Good Health at 65; Keeps Hectic Schedule With No Let-Up

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Louis Armstrong, who has been blowing the sweetest trumpet this side of Gabriel for 52 years, may retire next year.

"I got 12 weeks off next January," says old Satch, "and I may just dig this retirement jazz for size."

Of course, an extremely busy schedule at the moment may make retirement look delightful.

He was interviewed between rehearsals for a Dean Martin television show after having played the night before at Disneyland until 2 a.m.

42 One-Nighters

Louie was about to take off on 42 one-nighters that will take him up the Pacific Coast to Alaska and then down into Texas and Louisiana.

"Man," says Louie. "There just ain't no days off. Just looking at that itinerary makes me tired."

There's also a possibility that Louie will go to Viet Nam and play for the troops.

"It's up to the State Department," he says. "Pops will swing anyplace."

Louis even blew behind the Iron Curtain.

"I had crowds in Budapest like I did in Ghana," beams Satchmo. "Those cats all swing alike."

At age 65 Satch's health is good and so is his lip — which is never given a rest. He blows a show most every night and practices every day — a ritual he began as a boy trumpeter in a New Orleans reform school.

"When I retire," says Louis, "I'll spend my time helping other young boys like I was helped myself.

"There's lots of other things I can do like spending my time listening to other performers and visiting people. Just having myself a ball.

"I got a nice home in Corona, N.Y. I also got me a young wife who says she'll cook me anything I want to eat . . . and, daddy, that's livin'."

Armstrong who got his first jazz band job in 1917, probably has done more than any other single musician to spread America's contribution to world culture.

He played the riverboats that took the new music from New Orleans to the speakeasies of Chicago. In his prime, every note he hit was sheer perfection. Louie is the only one of his kind and if and when he puts down that horn, there will be no more when he is gone.

Jazz Trumpeter Louis Armstrong takes a minute off from a busy schedule to pose with singer Dean Martin on whose television show he will soon appear. There's a possibility that, besides his string of one-night appearances, Armstrong may go to Viet Nam to play for the troops. (AP Wirephoto)

Color Scenes Make 'Boone' Decent Show

BY TV SCOUT

6:30 - 7:30 Channels 4-5 — Magnificent scenery and excellent color photography heighten Daniel Boone's eerie excursion to the Valley of the Fire. Fess Parker and Ed Ames are seeking this place because Aztec Henry Silva has told them of his "dream", in which they lead him to the ancient Aztec area. The man, who would have to be 300 years old, is seeking a Sun God, left behind when his tribe fled the area. One of the major problems: the Aztec Valley of Fire is also the Shawnee's Valley of Death, and they don't want strangers in the area. (Color)

7:30-8 Channels 11-6-9 — O. K. Crackerby finally finds something he can't buy: a young boy's silent and unseen companion, a mythological griffin. But before Crackerby keeps still long enough for him to learn the creature doesn't exist, viewers will have been amused by his efforts to get the creature. (Color)

8-8:30 Channels 11-6-9 — Bewitched has a funny episode, thanks to befuddled Marion Lorne, as Aunt Clara, and a nutty script. The Stephens' houseguest, William Redfield, turns out to be a clumsy resident of Salem, and with Miss Lorne's help, it is discovered he has inherited a spell put on an ancestor by a witch who is a sore loser.

7:30-8 Channels 2-7-12 — My Three Sons, which manages to be funny and heart-warming, but not maudlin or sticky, concludes the three-parter which ends with little Ernie (Barry Livingston) adopted into the family. (Color)

8-10:15 Channels 2-7-12 — "The Notorious Landlady" on The Thursday Night Movies is a fairly feeble comedy involving the talented Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire and pretty Kim Novak. The setting is London, and Miss Novak plays an American who may or may not have murdered her British husband.

* * *

9-10 Channels 11-6-9 — The permanent population of Frenchman's Bend is increased by one as Lana Wood joins The Long Hot Summer. She's a bedraggled illiterate who blossoms into a beautiful illiterate after Jody (Paul Geary) has picked her up on the road during a rainstorm. He brings her home, in the midst of his birthday party, all in the spirit of love for his fellow man — and woman. But he has crossed state lines, the girl is underage, and her brother and would-be husband are hot on the trail. Will Eula accuse Jody of improprieties? Will Big Daddy Varner pay off the blackmail. Will Ben Quick get the air conditioner fixed?

Philharmonic Concerts Over WAPL Again

WAPL Radio will sponsor broadcasts of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra for the third successive year. The opening concert will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday.

This year the Philharmonic concerts are being broadcast from New York's Lincoln Center Saturday evenings instead of Sunday afternoons. WAPL will tape record the night concerts from the Philharmonic network and then rebroadcast the full conce its customary 2 p.m. Sunday time.

This Sunday's opening concert, however, has been moved back to 3 p.m. to accommodate WAPL's rebroadcast of the Appleton High School-Preble football game, programmed for 1 to 3 p.m. When WAPL's FM station goes on the air within the next few weeks, the Philharmonic concert will be broadcast live from New York Saturday nights in FM stereo in addition to the Sunday afternoon program. The New York Philharmonic, anounces several outstanding guest conductors for the new season. These include George Szell of the Cleveland Symphony; William Steinberg, music director of the Pittsburgh symphony; Thomas Schippers, young American opera and symphony conductor; Sir Malcolm Sargent, English conductor, Andre Kostelanetz and Lukas Foss, prominent American conductors.

Sun concert under the baton of Leonard Bernstein will feature soprano soloist Phyllis Curtin in four Sibelius songs as well as the Scandinavian composer's Luonnotar, Opus 70. Other Sibelius symphonic works will round out the afternoon program and will include the Sinfonia Espansiva, opus 27.

Another Stolen Car Reported to Appleton Police

One stolen car was recovered but another was reported stolen, Appleton police said Wednesday.

A 1962 car owned by Loretta Griesbach, 319 E. Harris St., was found Tuesday evening after it was reported stolen Monday afternoon from the parking ramp at Division and Washington streets.

The car was found abandoned at Fleet Wholesale Supply Co., 1700 W. Wisconsin Ave. An employe of the firm reported the finding to Appleton police.

Reported stolen about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday was a car owned by Richard E. Cox, 1706 N. Outagamie St.

Cox told Appleton police his car, a tan 1965 Chevrolet two-door, was stolen sometime after 7 a.m. Tuesday from the west parking lot at Appleton Coated Paper Co. Although the keys were in the car, the doors were locked, Cox said.

License number of the stolen car is N75-062.

Xavier High School's football team, with the loop's leading passer calling the shots, tangles with winless St. Mary Springs, of Fond du Lac, at 8 p.m. Friday on the Goodland Field gridiron.

Senior quarterback Paul Rechner, a southpaw, directs Xavier's bid for a third straight FVCC triumph. The Hawks carry an overall 3-1 log into Friday's contest.

FVCC co-leader Menasha St. Mary plays host to Green Bay Premontre at 4 p m. Friday in a key game. Premontre, 13-7 victim of Xavier, will be out to keep its slim title hopes aglow, while the Zephyrs of Coach Clarence (Sonny) Lotzer hope to protect their share of the FVCC's top spot with the Hawks.

DePere Abbot Pennings invades Marinette Friday and Little Chute St. John travels to Oshkosh Lourdes in Saturday's only scheduled clash.

Nets 266 Yards

Rechner's aerial artistry has netted the Hawks 266 yards in the two conference entanglements. The 6-0 senior has found receivers on 12 of his 14 attempts.

Primary targets include ends Mike Heideman and Tom Heinritz and halfbacks Colin Smith and Larry Van Dyke. Heideman heads the FVCC in receptions with four for 101 yards. Smith ranks third, with three catches for 52 yards.

Xavier Coach "Torchy" Clark commended Heinritz and Heideman after the Hawks' 39-12 conquest of Lourdes last Friday.

"These boys turned in the best execution of pass patterns we've ever had at Xavier," the fiery mentor asserted. "They went after the ball, got it and then did some excellent running besides."

Springs is a relatively big team in the line with five members of the squad exceeding 219 pounds. The offense is led by halfback Jim Harbridge, who quarterbacked the Ledgers in 1964.

Jim Phalen, present Ledger signal caller, has hit on 10 of 28 passes for 97 yards and has had two intercepted. Tom Flash and Jim Walgenbach lead the Ledgers' rushing corps 76 and 47 yards, respectively.

Jim Michalkiewicz, Appleton High School tackle, will be in the starting lineup when the Terrors tangle with Preble in Green Bay Saturday night. Michalkiewicz is used on offense and defense. AHS and Preble both have 1-2 marks. (Post-Crescent Photo)

FVL, Manitowoc Lutheran Match 3-1 Records Friday

Foxes Play First Road Game Of Season, Have Weight Edge

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran High School's Foxes will be on the road for the first time this year, after four home games, when they travel to Manitowoc Friday night to meet Manitowoc Lutheran under the lights of Municipal Athletic Field. The game will begin at 8 p.m.

The game will pit a heavy FVL team, with a 3-1 record, against a light, speedy Manitowoc team that has rebounded from a 0-7 record last year to a 3-1 record this year.

Manitowoc Lutheran is a member of the Kettle Moraine Conference and is currently in first place with a 2-0 mark. Its wins this year have been over Ozaukee (26-0) and Stockbridge (14-12) in loop play and Casco (13-6) in non-loop action. The only loss has been at the hands of Mishicot (19-6). Manitowoc's win over Stockbridge came on a TD pass in the last second of the game.

Coach Richard Winter has 10 lettermen on his 33-man squad. The line-up depends much on the performances of underclassmen as does FVL's. The starting backfield will include senior Bob Kastner (150) calling the signals, senior Philip Otto (150) and junior Randy Kastner (150) at the halfbacks. The fullback is senior Jim Menges (160).

A Small Line

The line, which is small next to FVL's, has junior Eugene Hartwig (165) at center, sophomore Allan Vetting (155) at one guard, and senior Todd Fischer (160) at the other guard spot. The tackles will be junior Jerry Menges (170) and senior Gary Brodtke (180). Kastner will be throwing to a pair of junior ends, Paul Bruss (150) and David Radue (150).

FVL has Dan Haase (190) at center; flanked by Fred Huebner (150) and Sheldon Schneidewent (210), guards; and James Verbeten (190) and Mike Huebner (230), tackles. The ends will be Dennis Neumann (180) and Mark Woods (175) or Paul Mueller (153).

The FVL backfield will have Dave Tiedt (155) at quarterback with Howe Korth (135) and Mark Dahlke (170) at the halves, and Jeff Volkman (155) or Tom Ehlke (185) at fullback.

In last year's tilt Fox Lutheran routed Manty, 35-0, at FVL's homecoming. Dahlke counted two touchdowns for FVL in the game, one on a 20-yard pass play and the second on a 40-yard run.

In Manitowoc's only other gridiron encounter against FVL the Lancers also lost, 34-7. Since sports competition began between FVL and Manty, the Lancers have never beaten FVL.

FVL's passing, which has been improving rapidly, may be used more extensively by Coach Dave Umnus this week. After three games without a first downpassing, FVL got four last week. Quarterback Dave Tiedt has thrown 32 passes completing 12 for five touchdowns and 163 yards. He has had one intercepted. His favorite target is Mark Dahlke, whom he has hit six times for 64 yards.

Hunters Bag 1,253 Geese at Horicon

HORICON (AP) — Hunters bagged 1,253 geese Wednesday despite efforts to keep the honkers on the ground by supplying them with tons of corn.

The toll for the first four days of the special season rose to 3,527. Shooting will be halted when a federally assigned quota of 11,000 has been reached.

Chicago Loss Sunday Would Lengthen Bears' Chain to 5 Straight

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Chicago Bears, losers in their last four National Football League games including their first two this season, are certain to be in a menacing mood Sunday when they take on the Green Bay Packers.

Should the Beays lose, they would be caught up in their longest losing streak in 20 seasons.

Bears' Coach George Halas is certain to do all he can to avoid such a possibility and that could include a shakeup of the forces that have lost on successive Sundays to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Halas' immediate problem is the team's rushing attack and defense. The Bears are averaging only 64 yards a game on the ground while surrendering 166 as well as 277 yards passing.

Morris in Lineup

Veteran linebacker Larry Morris may be put back into the lineup for the Packers' game. Halas reportedly will also shift Ronnie Bull from halfback to fullback, making room for rookie sensation Gale Sayers, who is leading the league in punt returns.

Either Rudy Bukich or Bill Wade will start at quarterback. The decision on Halas' choice probably won't be announced until game time.

The Packers, who are averaging only 25 yards more per game than the Bears on offense, will be seeking their third straight win of the season and their third straight regular season victory over Chicago.

The Packers beat the Bears 23-12 at Green Bay last season and 17-3 at Chicago.

Maris Returns Home After Hand Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — His right hand in a plaster shell, Roger Maris of the New York Yankees has gone home to Independence, Mo., looking forward to an improvd season in 1966.

Maris, who had a bone fragment removed from his hand Tuesday, left the hospital Wednesday, several days earlier than expected. His hand will be in the shell for about three weeks.

Maris appeared in only four games, all as a pinch hitter, after he hurt the hand June 28. He finished the season—which for him was only 46 games long—with a .239 batting average, eight homers and 27 runs batted in.

Playoff Set in Case of NL Tie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants finish in a tie for the National League pennant, the first game of the best-of-three series will be in Dodger Stadium with the second and third, if necessary, in Candlestick Park.

This playoff arrangement was decided Wednesday by a cointossing ceremony conducted here by National League President Warren C. Giles.

The series, if required, will begin Monday, and a game will be played each day. Following the playoff's conclusion, the National League winner will get a day of rest before opening the World Series in Minnesota against the American League champion Twins.

Youthful South Carolina Grid Hopeful Dies of Cancer

CHURCH HILL, Tenn. (AP) — Mike Johnson, who had hopes of recovering from cancer "maybe in time for spring practice" with the University of South Carolina football squad, died here Wednesday night.

He was stricken and died as he and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Johnson, watched Mike's younger brother play in an elementary school football game.

Johnson, a 6-foot-4, 228-pounder when a star sophomore center at South Carolina last year, had lost a tremendous amount of weight and was barely able to talk.

Presented Game Ball

Three of Mike's teammates visited here two weeks ago to present the athlete with the ball the Gamecocks used in a 14-3 comeback victory over The Citadel.

The South Carolina club rallied for two touchdowns in the second half to overcome a 3-0 Citadel lead after Coach Marvin Bass told them to "go out there and get that game for Mike Johnson."

At the time of the visit his mother said Mike was "so thrilled, almost beyond words." She said he received a deluge of mail from "everyone down in South Carolina. He keeps saying he'll go back to school next spring."

Johnson is survived by the parents, two brothers and a sister. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Koufax Shuts Out Reds; Giants Fall Two Games Behind

San Francisco Rally Falls Short; Braves' Johnson Beats Houston

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax has found something for the pitcher who has everything.

Koufax, whose dazzling curve ball and fast ball have brought him just about everything a pitcher could want, now has presented himself with a forkball.

He displayed it more than ever Wednesday night, pitching a two-hitter and gaining his 25th triumph as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 5-0 for their 12th straight victory and increased their National League lead to two games over the staggering San Francisco Giants.

The Giants lost to St. Louis 8-6 Wednesday and now face a four-game, season-ending series with Cincinnati. The Dodgers play their last four games with Milwaukee, and if they win only two of them, the Giants would have to sweep all four of theirs to gain a tie.

"It's hard to tell one game of Sandy's from another, he's so consistent," Dodger Manager Walter Alston said after the game.

Proud of It

But there was one difference — the forkball. And Koufax was appropriately proud of it.

"I had a good curve, and my control was as good as it's been all year," the 29-year-old lefthander said. "Then I threw five or six forkballs — got 'em over, too."

Koufax has been experimenting with the pitch this season but had thrown it only once or twice in any game before Wednesday night.

It only foreshadowed worse things to come for Dodger opponents, who have stood by almost helplessly while Koufax has compiled a major league record of 369 strikeouts, eight shutouts and 26 complete games in 40 starts this season.

Koufax' 25 victories also equal his personal high achieved in 1963 when he won the Cy Young Award. He lost five that year compared with eight this season. He also reduced his earned run average to 2.06 as the Dodgers eliminated the third-place Reds from contention.

In other NL games, Pittsburgh trimmed New York 4-2, Milwaukee beat Houston 5-1 and Philadelphia edged Chicago 7-6.

Koufax, who struck out 13, allowed only singles by Vada Pinson in the fourth and Deron

Drysdale Faces Braves' Fischer

Dodgers Score Sixth Shutout of 12-Win Streak

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two valuable games in front, with only four to go, and riding a 12-game winning streak, the Los Angeles Dodgers head into the final phase of the National League pennant race tonight.

The Milwaukee Braves move into Dodger Stadium for four games, the last series of the regular season, with Don Drysdale, 22-12, assuming the pitching burden for the Dodgers against Hank Fischer, 8-8.

The Dodgers swept the Cincinnati Reds, 5-0, Wednesday night before 52,312 paying patrons, registering the sixth shutout of their winning surge.

Increases Lead

Los Angeles increased its lead to two games when the Giants lost to St. Louis, 8-6. The Reds fell six games off the pace.

The Giants can expect trouble from Cincinnati.

"We are going to try as if we were still going for the pennant," promised their manager, Dick Sisler. "I've said all along we are going to try to finish as high as we can."

Heroics were divided in the Dodgers' latest triumph between pitcher Sandy Koufax and shortstop Maury Wills.

Wills broke the game open with a three-run triple in the seventh which made it 4-0. He drove a Jim Maloney fast ball into the right field corner.

McDowell Fans 12 As Cleveland Wins

Hurls 5-Hitter at Yankees; Twins Halt Orioles' Streak

Quickie Quiz What pitcher is striking out batters at a faster clip than Sandy Koufax?

Stumped?

None other than Cleveland's Sam McDowell, whose individual performances have been overshadowed in recent weeks by the developments of the American League pennant race and without fanfare has joined Koufax as a member of the exclusive 300-strikeout club

McDowell, a 23-year-old left-hander in only his second full major league season, raised his strikeout total to 318 Wednesday night by fanning 12 in a five-hit, 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

McDowell, who has a 17-10 record with a best-in-the-league 2 17 earned average, now has struck out 10 or more batters in 17 games this season, while becoming only the fifth pitcher in major league history to hit the 300-strikeout plateau

Only Koufax in the NL and Rube Waddell, Walter Johnson and Bob Feller in the AL have reached that level

Faster Than Koufax

In addition McDowell is fanning batters faster than Koufax despite the fact that the 29-year-old Dodger left-hander has struck out a major league record 369. Koufax, who has worked 326 2-3 innings, has a 1 1 strikeout per inning rate to 1 2 for McDowell, who has pitched only 265 innings

While McDowell was adding to his laurels, the champion Minnesota Twins ended Baltimore's nine-game winning streak by edging the Orioles 3-2. Washington's Jim Hannan five-hit Kansas City 9-0 and Boston edged California 2-1 Chicago and Detroit were idle

Fred Whitfield and Max Alvis supplied the only support McDowell needed Whitfield hit a three-run homer in a four-run third inning while Alvis, who went 4-for-4, singled home the other run in the uprising and then hit a homer in the eighth inning Clete Boyer and Elston Howard homered for the Yankees.

Grant Gets 21st

Jim Grant, the lone 20-game winner in the AL, gained his 21st victory against six losses when Bob Allison won it for the Twins with a two-run homer in the eighth inning off Steve Barber Allison connected with Cesar Tovar on base with a double. Allison also tripled and scored the first run on Andy Kosco's fourth-inning single

Hannan brought his record to 1-1 against the A's, pitching the first shutout and the first complete game of his four years with the Senators Ed Brinkman singled home two runs in a four-run first inning rally that proved enough for Washington

Tony Conigharo snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, boosting the Red Sox to their victory over the Angels with his 32nd homer A crowd of 409 was on hand at Boston — the smallest turnout of the season in the major leagues

Name Gutzman Back of Week

Green Bay West Athlete Scores 4 TDs in 41-0 Win

GREEN BAY (AP)—Dennis Gutzman is a good football player right now and he's going to get even better, says his coach, John Biolo, of Green Bay West.

"He's just a little growing boy right now," said Biolo of the 6-foot-1, 196-pound junior tabbed by Wisconsin sports writers as The Associated Press "Back of the Week"

Not only is Gutzman strong and fast, Biolo said, he's also bright and hard working. "I'd like to have 11 boys like him," the coach said

Having Gutzman was like having 11 men last Friday night as West Trounced crosstown rival Preble 41-0.

All Gutzman did was:

1. Score four touchdowns on runs of 1, 2, 15 and 66 yards.
2. Gain 137 yards in 12 carries.
3. Throw a key block during a teammate's touchdown jaunt
4. Block two punts to set up two touchdowns
5. Drop the opposing quarterback four times for long losses.
6. Lead West in tackles.
7. Kick off, consistently booming the ball inside the 10

Rangers Shoot Surplus Deer; Stir Up Major Controversy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Rangers at Yosemite National Park have started shooting deer in an effort to save two herds endangered by depleted ranges.

The shots are echoing far beyond the quiet Tuolumne Meadows and Wawona country where the shooting is being done by two five-man "firing squads" assigned to remove 1,075 surplus deer.

The ensuing controversy is reminiscent of the battle over the slaughter of hundreds of Yellowstone Park elk that were eating themselves out of a home a few years ago.

Hunters are demanding to know why the public wasn't given the chance to go after the surplus deer in special hunts outside the park boundaries.

Artificial Feeding

Anti-hunting and humane groups are clamoring to know why the animals must be shot at all, and proposing such schemes as artificial feeding or the introduction of predators

The methodical slaughter of deer within the normally inviolable wildlife sanctuary of the park started last week and will continue until the job is done.

Biologists from both the National Park Service and the California Fish and Game Department said the herds had to be thinned out to save the animals' summer ranges.

The alternative, depletion of the range, followed by malnutrition, disease, starvation and possibly mass "die-offs" of the two herds.

The gun-toting Rangers thus are protecting the deer as surely as when they enforce the ban on hunting in the parks.

The park service initially proposed to let public hunters do the job

Officials asked the California Fish and Game Commission to authorize two late hunts when the deer move from summer ranges in the park to lower winter ranges outside the boundaries.

Numerous sportsmen's and conservation groups backed the proposed special hunts, but local opposition in Tuolumne and Mariposa counties won out.

NOTES and NOTIONS

John L. Faustin

Now I know how the New York Mets feel. My 1965 predictions slump has extended into a third week, and if the present trend continues, we'll be draped with our all-time low percentage. After last week's 24-right, 11-wrong we're batting .698 (60 hits, 26 misses, 2 ties) for the season.

Packers over Bears — The momentum gained in the pivotal Colt battle will boost the Bays to their third straight win—despite the rash of backfield injuries. After "snatching defeat from victory" last Sunday, the Bears could be highly inflamed. But the Packer defense is capable of putting out almost any fire.

Iowa over Wisconsin — Gary Snook and Chuck Burt will fill the air with so many footballs, it will look like the opening of duck season. The Badgers surprised the Hawks last year and are capable of an upset this time. But, Snook has a little more support than Burt.

Lawrence over St. Olaf — The confidence gained in the win at Carleton and the super-charged atmosphere surrounding stadium dedication should swing the balance in favor of the Vikes. Both teams want this one badly—the young Vikes hope to continue on the road to success, and the Oles need it to stay in the title race—so it should be quite a game.

Xavier over Springs — The Hawks, flying high again, will encounter little or no trouble here.

Appleton over Preble — Cognizant that a good season is still possible, despite the slow start, the Terrors will take the sting out of the Hornets.

Fox Lutheran over Manitowoc Lutheran — The Foxes are too good a team to be dismayed by one defeat and will be in a snarling mood for their first road game.

Neenah over Menasha — Much will be at stake in this, one of the most unpredictable of Fox Cities rivalries. Both teams have loads of incentive and momentum. The Rockets are our pick because they have played a somewhat tougher schedule to date and because they well remember last season's surprise setback.

Clintonville over Two Rivers — The unbeaten Truckers, who are starting to move in high gear, have power to spare.

New London over Kimberly — Could be one of the weekend's closest games. Hypoed by their historically-rare win over Kaukauna, the Bulldogs may have too much bite left for the Packe Papermakers.

Kaukauna over Shawano — The injury-weakened Ghosts have already seen some of their high hopes shot down, but they'll be out to salvage prestige and a chance for a first-division finish.

Premontre over Menasha St. Mary — The Zephyrs will be hard to handle in their bid to retain their share of the FVCC lead. But there's a suspicion that a potentially-powerful Cadet team will break out in a rash of points soon—and this may be the week.

Lourdes over St. John — The Chuters have played well despite the handicap of injuries. But the Knights have a bit more manpower and a dangerous passer in Randy Walter.

Other NFL games — Colts over 49ers, Browns over Eagles, Vikings over Rams, Steelers over Giants, Lions over Redskins, Cardinals over Cowboys.

Little Nine — Freedom over Denmark, Hortonville over Wrightstown, Reedsville over Hilbert, Omro over Shiocton, Winneconne over Brillion.

Jack Kemp Chosen for AP's Award

NEW YORK (AP) — In the hoopla about Joe Namath's first start for the New York Jets last week, the performance of Buffalo's Jack Kemp, the winning quarterback, was overlooked in some quarters. Kemp only completed 22 of 37 passes for 292 yards and was picked by the Associated Press as the offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Kemp was knocked out, trying to dive for a touchdown on the third play of the fourth period when he banged head-on into four Jets. Daryle Lamonica took over for the rest of the game. Kemp had a great third period when he completed 13 of 16 for 135 yards.

Cookie Gilchrist, the bruising fullback who used to run behind the same big Buffalo line that sheltered Kemp, broke out of a slump and charged through the Boston Patriots for 142 yards on 32 carries in a Friday night game at Boston. Cookie also did some solid blocking and never was thrown for a loss.

Tom Flores was the big gun for the Oakland Raiders, who stopped Houston's winning streak. Flores connected with 14 of 29 passes for 187 yards and three touchdowns. In the final minute, Flores hit Alan Miller with a five-yard pass for the Fores when he found himself winning score. Miller yelled to free of the linebacker covering him, and Flores hit the spot.

ND's Kevin Hardy Out With Injury

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame tackle Kevin Hardy, will be sidelined probably a month by a back ailment. Irish Coach Ara Parseghian learned Wednesday.

The 6-foot-5, 270-pounder starred defensively as a sophomore last season. He has a muscular spasm in his back.

Parseghian sent the Irish through offensive and defensive contact work for the second straight day in preparation for Northwestern's invasion Saturday.

Hull's Boycott Of Hawks Ends

Returns to Drills After 4-Day Dispute Fails to Get Results

CHICAGO (AP) — Hockey player Bob Hull has ended his boycott of the Chicago Black Hawks and returned to drills after a four-day dispute with the National Hockey League club.

Hull walked out on the team last Saturday with his paternal pride ruffled. He tested a club rule barring children from the Hawks' Chicago Stadium dressing room.

When admittance was refused Hull's sons, Blake, 5, and Bobby, 4, the superstar of the National Hockey League took them home and stayed there.

But the Golden Jet strolled into the Stadium Wednesday without the boys, had a 90-minute chat with General Manager Tommy Ivan, a 15-minute session with Coach Billy Reay, and then put on his skates and went to work.

The reaction to Hull's walkout by co-owner James D. Norris was the firing of a message from his Coral Gables, Fla., home that if Bobby didn't stop "acting like a spoiled kid" he would be liable to a $1,000-a-day fine.

"It was just a misunderstanding and there will be no disciplinary action taken," said Ivan.

Ivan and Hull said there was salary talk in their meeting and both added they were "a little ways" apart.

There was a rumble that Bobby wanted $100,000 — about a $70,000 raise — but Hull denied he ever had set such a figure.

Dodgers Win, Boost Lead To 2 Games

Johnson in the seventh. The Dodgers' big blow, meanwhile, was Maury Wills' three-run triple in the seventh off Jim Maloney, now 20-0 Wills then scored as Jim Gilliam singled.

Lose 6 of 8

The Giants went down to their sixth defeat in the last eight games despite a six-run rally in the ninth Bob Gibson, 19-12, held the Giants to two hits until that inning, but Curt Simmons and Hal Woodeshick had to come on before the Cardinals got out of it

Jim Davenport hit a three-run homer in the rally, but that was nullified by Gibson's first major league grand slam in the eighth Gibson also singled twice and scored the Cardinals' first two runs

Jim Pagliaroni's two-run homer in the seventh carried Pittsburgh past New York Donn Clendenon singled across a Pirate run in the fourth then stole second and came home as Bill Mazeroski singled

Ken Johnson stopped Houston on five hits, bringing his record to 16-10 He received early support from Mack Jones, who clouted a two-run homer in the third.

The Phillies edged the Cubs on Billy Hoeft's two-out, bases-loaded walk to pinch hitter Bill Sorrell in the ninth. Adolfo Phillips helped Philadelphia build a 6-3 lead, driving in three runs with two homers, but the Cubs tied it in the eighth on homers by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks

Tells of Long Afternoon

Jim Taylor Anxious For Return to Duty

Multi-muscled Jim Taylor, exceedingly fond of being "where the action is," as the TV commercial runs, is a study in frustration these days

The bone-jarring fullback, who takes great joy in establishing contact with the opposition, sat out as the Packers clawed and scratched their way to last Sunday's 20-17 squeaker over the Baltimore Colts in Milwaukee County Stadium and freely admitted it was one of the longest afternoons in his eight-year Packer career

"It was thrilling and exciting, but I really missed being in there," Taylor, who has been hobbled with a leg injury, confessed. "I wanted to help and do something, and not being able, it was pretty frustrating."

"I could have played — but not too well I was warming up a bit the whole game along the sidelines, though I was staying warm ready to pop in there if glad he didn't — we've got enough hurt people now," the 29-year-old Bayou Bronco, only man in National Football League history to gain 1,000 yards in five consecutive seasons, declared

Had he attempted to assist his understudy? "Oh, yes Sometimes I talk with Tom — I saw a few things But you can see so much more out there on the field. For example, if Tom were coming off and I would have been going in, he'd tell me things like if the tackles were soft, or if Brasse (Colt defensive end Ordell) was sliding over, which would affect the sweep I run, or how the linebackers were playing"

Long Enough

Taylor, who played long enough in the Pack's season opener at Pittsburgh a week earlier to emerge with the game's ground gaining honors, is hopeful he will be able to resume linebusting in the Packers' first home appearance against the Bays' immemorial enemies, the Chicago Bears, at Green Bay's Lambeau Field Sunday afternoon.

"I hope I can, but I can't tell once and for all You don't want to be running on a leg and a half You've got to be sure you can make the cut, otherwise you can't play reckless football"

Had last Sunday's tightfisted struggle suggested to him the defense might be overtaking the offense? "No, I don't think so," he replied. "We always have played low scoring games with the Colts, and the Lions. Certain clubs just defense certain teams — I think that's the explanation

"The offense still has the advantage. The defense can give you some keys that tell you they're going to be in a zone, for example, and you can change your offense accordingly. For that matter, the Colts moved a lot of us. Our defense played a great game, but they still got 302 yards."

Two Americans Win In British Women's Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Judy Bell of Broadmoor, Colo, and Mrs. Nancy Roth Syms of Hollywood, Fla., won third round matches but two other Americans were eliminated in the British Women's Open Golf Championship at St. Andrews Wednesday.

Miss Bell defeated Vivien Saunders of England 3 and 1. Mrs. Syms routed Ethel Philp of Scotland 5 and 3.

Susan Armitage, a British Curtis Cup player, defeated Jean Ashley of Broodmoor, Colo, 4 and 3 during a rain storm. Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, was beaten in the second round by Britain's Valerie Stone on the final hole after the American drove out of bounds.

Miss Ashley earlier routed Scotland's Margaret Park 7 and 5.

Wet Conditions Exist for Opening Of Canada Cup

MADRID, Spain (AP) — It was a great day for the mudders as 37 teams of international golfers prepared to tee off in today's opening round of the Canada Cup matches.

Heavy rain during much of the night turned to a steady drizzle as Spain and Nationalist China went to the No. 1 tee of the Club de Campo course to open the four-day struggle.

The carefully prepared championship course, carefully watered daily during a long dry summer, was soaked after a weeklong rain, Madrid's first in six months.

The worried Play Committee barred even sports writers from the fairways in an effort to keep the course playable during four days of competition.

Interrupted by World War II

Twins' Mele Had Shot at Cage Career

By LEW FERGUSON

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Basketball was Sam Mele's first love. Had World War II not interfered, he might have become a professional cager.

"I don't know if you could compare me with Bob Cousy," the manager of the American League pennant-winning Minnesota Twins said, "But I think I was pretty good."

Born Jan. 21, 1922, in the Astoria section of New York City, Mele excelled at both baseball and basketball as a youngster. But basketball was his No. 1 sport at New York University, which he attended for three years in the early 1940s.

The Boston Celtics drafted Mele No. 1 in 1943. Mele, however, joined the Marines.

He got out of the service in 1946, found his basketball play was rusty and signed a baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox.

"When I was young," Mele said, "I always wanted to be a basketball player. I went to NYU on a basketball scholarship.

Hadn't Played Much

"I tried it again after I got out of the service, but I was 24 then and I hadn't played much for a long time.

"I had agreed to go to spring training with the Red Sox in 1946, so that kind of knocked out the basketball."

Boston sent Mele to Louisville and Scranton in 1946, the last year the Red Sox won a pennant. He had trouble handling the pitching at Louisville, but hit .342 for Scranton in 119 games.

That earned him a shot with the Red Sox in 1947 in an outfield which included Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio. Sam broke in with a bang, hitting .302 in 123 games and winning AL Rookie-of-the-Year honors.

He played 10 years in the major leagues as an outfielder with Boston, Washington, Chicago, Baltimore, Cincinnati and Cleveland, compiling a lifetime average of .267.

Finished at Buffalo

His playing days over, Mele became a scout for the old Washington Senators in 1959 and became a coach for the Senators the following year.

In 1961, he came to Minnesota with the Griffith organization as a coach under Manager Cookie Lavagetto.

No Grinding Out Yardage

Need Balanced Attack Says Buckeyes' Hayes

By BYRON ROSEN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — That "three yards and a cloud of dust" label on Ohio State's football offense may be slipping into the air.

"You need a balanced attack nowadays," Coach Woody Hayes said at his weekly press luncheon Monday at which the newsmen were briefed on this Saturday's opponent, Washington.

The Buckeyes lost 14-3 They'll keep throwing, says Hayes — famed for his ground-hugging, grind-out-yardage offense over the years.

It's amazing, Hayes commented, how many good quarterbacks there are in the Big Ten and all around the country this season — fellows who can pass well and run well.

Like Danny Talbott, who guided North Carolina over the Buckeyes — and Tod Hullin of Washington, whom Ohio State faces in this week's nationally televised game (kickoff 3.30 p.m., EST), Woody remarked.

Their versatility is of key importance, Hayes says.

Likes Passing

Hayes likes the passing of his own quarterback, Don Unverferth, who connected on 19 of 35 against North Carolina, but adds that "we've lacked a real run-and-pass quarterback since Tom Matte (several years ago)."

"Our passing is mostly from the pocket, more of a pro-style attack with the quarterback not running much, and this has its limitations," Hayes says.

The pocket protection for Unverferth broke down at critical junctures against the Tarheels and he was racked up for losses several times, wrecking Buckeye scoring bids.

He noted that Ohio controlled the ball against the Tarheels, holding possession better than 60 per cent of the time but not enough to cross the goal. This time he'll aim at the same kind of control — "but enough to score," Hayes says.

Ohio State has scored only 13 points — a touchdown and two field goals — in its last four games including the tail-end of 1964.

Franks' Admits Giants Need Assistance in Pennant Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Herman Franks finally faced reality today.

The frustrated San Francisco manager, unable to check his team's shocking collapse that threatens to slide it right out of the National League pennant race, summed up the Giants' plight in three plaintive words.

"We need help."

Never have the beleagured Giants needed help more. Never this year have they helped themselves less

They've lost six of their last eight to drop six games to the furious-finishing Los Angeles Dodgers whom they led by four games just nine days ago.

This afternoon, as Juan Marichal attempts to plug the dike, the Giants find themselves two games in back of the front-running Dodgers with just four left to play—all at home with the third-place Cincinnati Reds

The Dodgers, who have won their last 12 games, also have four to play against the Milwaukee Braves at Dodger Stadium.

Reds Started It

It was the Reds who started the Giants on the downhill road, a skid that continued unabated Wednesday when the St. Louis Cardinals staved off a last-inning uprising to hand them an 8-6 defeat.

Held to two hits by right-hander Bob Gibson and trailing 8-0, the Giants suddenly came to life and almost pulled off a miracle.

Unable to advance a runner past second base through eight innings against the hard-throwing Gibson, the Giants bombed the right-hander off the mound in the ninth and continued their assault against southpaw Curt Simmons.

There were six runs in, Jesus Alou on first base and Willie Mays, representing the tieing run with two outs, at bat when St Louis manager Red Schoendienst summoned Harold Woodeshick, a left-hander, from the bullpen

Fed Fast Balls

Woodeshick, with orders not to give Mays anything good to hit, fed Willie nothing but fast balls close in on the fists. Mays managed to hit one off third baseman Ken Boyer's glove for a single.

Now Willie McCovey, the Giant left-handed slugging first baseman with 39 home runs to his credit, came to the plate representing the ninth and winning run. McCovey, after slashing a long foul, worked the count to 3-2, then brought a groan to the 10,345 Candlestick Park patrons by fanning on a curve that swept a foot outside the plate.

Franks was forced to use three pitchers, making it a total of 30 in the last eight games. No starting pitcher has gone the route since Bob Bolin beat Houston Sept. 16.

World Leaders Have Appeared in Colorful U. N. Assembly Chamber

By MAC HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Some say it looks like a gaudy movie theater Some have likened it to a cathedral. But all agree that the modernistic, domed auditorium is as spectacular as the world-famous figures who have appeared in it.

This is where Pope Paul VI will speak Monday — the U N. Assembly chamber, scene of Nikita S Khrushchev's shoe pounding, Fidel Castro's marathon attack on the United States, Dwight D Eisenhower's atoms for peace speech, and countless other dramatic episodes.

Because of its involvement in history-making events, the chamber has become one of the great tourist attractions in New York.

Brilliant Colors

When the Pope enters the 2,000-seat auditorium he, like other visitors, is likely to be struck by the melange of brilliant colors. Blue and gold are predominant, but also present are forest green, red, black, gray and blonde wood

The shape of the chamber is as unconventional as the color combination. All the walls are tilted, curved, or both. The sweeping curved wall behind the podium resembles a great mass of gilded organpipes. There is a gap in the center, for a giant insignia of the United Nations.

Near the back of the chamber are the big conversation pieces, two abstract murals by the late Ferdinand Leger These are referred to by old U.N hands as "Fried Eggs" and "Bugs Bunny." Each covers a whole wall next to the public galleries and will be visible to the Pope as he speaks.

Ceremonial Ramp

The pontiff will enter the chamber through the lofty-ceilinged public lobby, where he will be greeted by Secretary-General U Thant After a brief visit to the tiny U N meditation room, he will ascend a long ceremonial ramp, then proceed down the center aisle to the rostrum.

He will find the auditorium jammed with an audience of diplomats, invited guests and newsmen, all seated in advance of his arrival His speech will be heard also by overflow crowds in nearby rooms. Thousands will be turned away for lack of space.

As in the case of other world figures, the Pope will be protected by stringent security measures. Only carefully screened persons will be permitted in the areas through which he will pass.

Expect No Trouble

U.N. security officials expect no trouble, but they never rule out the possibility of cranks or fanatics. They offer safeguards to all important persons and so far they have never had any serious trouble in the assembly.

In its 13 years, the assembly chamber has had a constant procession of kings, presidents, prime ministers and colorful personalities.

It has seen African leaders in their picturesque native costumes, rightist dictators, such as Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic; Communist dictators, churchmen, such as Archbishop Makarios, president of Cyprus; and conservatively dressed Western statesmen

President Eisenhower was one of the first world leaders to speak in the auditorium. His visit was in 1953, just a year after the new assembly building was completed Presidents John F Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson addressed the assembly in later years

Government Heads

One of the big events was the 1960 gathering of heads of government which brought together Khrushchev, Castro, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Indonesia's President Sukarno, U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Yugoslavia's President Tito and a score of others.

Although Khrushchev and Castro got the most attention, some of the African leaders, including Guinea's Sekou Toure and Ghana's Kwame Nkrumah, were among the most colorful in their brilliant robes. There were others also, such as Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi of India in her exotic saris and Queen Elizabeth II, spoke behind the green marble lectern where the Pope will stand.

One of the most dramatic was Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, the Lion of Judah, who had appeared before the League of Nations 27 years earlier to appeal for aid to save his country from conquest by Italian dictator Benito Mussolini.

Solemn Events

Among the most solemn events to take place in the chamber were memorial services for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, Winston Churchill, Eleanor Roosevelt and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Most of the world's top political figures of the postwar era saw the auditorium at one time or another, with notable exceptions. One of them was Churchill, who along with Franklin D. Roosevelt and Joseph Stalin, laid the diplomatic foundation for the United Nations. Stalin never came to U N headquarters and Roosevelt died before the charter was adopted.

Two other leading political figures have been conspicuously absent — French President Charles de Gaulle and Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-Shek

Says Knowles Owes Apology To Reynolds

MILWAUKEE (AP)— A Milwaukee state senator says Gov. Warren P. Knowles owes former Gov. John W. Reynolds a public apology for "deliberately and knowingly ridiculing" Reynolds' prediction that Wisconsin would have a budget surplus at the end of the 1963-65 biennium.

Sen. Martin Schreiber, a Democrat, said Wednesday night that Reynolds had predicted a $26.5 million budget surplus. Reynolds is also a Democrat.

Schreiber said that the state closed its books Monday with a $47.5 million surplus for the biennium. He said Knowles, a Republican, predicted during his campaign for governor that Wisconsin would be fortunate to cit.

Bombings of the city, and the seaport town of Chittagong occurred daily. At night there were blackouts and by day there were student riots aimed at the Americans.

No Cameras

Podell, who was carrying a camera, was arrested and Stephens, who went to bail him out of jail, soon found himself under arrest. The U.S. Embassy supported the Pakistan government in its demands that picture taking in the area was forbidden.

After three days under arrest the two were told they were to be evacuated along with other Americans. Stephens, who said he had about $6,000 in equipment and supplies, refused to be parted. Later Stephens consented to evacuation after he was told he would be completely on his own in the war-torn country. He was airlifted from Dacca by American aircraft, along with 300 other Americans, and his equipment was left behind.

Bank Robber Captured

Beloit Resident Charged in Holdup In Rock County

MADISON (AP)—A 22-year-old Beloit man, captured after being trapped by a 60-man posse in an Illinois cornfield, has been charged with bank robbery in the $2,000 holdup Wednesday of the Footville State Bank.

Donald Retzlaff was held in $20,000 bond after his arraignment Wednesday night on a federal bank robbery charge Authorities said the loot was recovered

The bank in Rock County was robbed late Wednesday morning. The gunman was spotted jumping into a car and fleeing down a Rock County highway

40 Mile Pursuit

Paul Canary, 26, son of the bank president, ran to his own car and gave chase to the suspect, following him for 40 miles along country roads near the Wisconsin-Illinois line.

Finally, near Harrison, Ill., the suspect stopped, walked back to Canary's car, pointed a gun at him and took away Canary's ignition key.

Canary at this point dropped the chase, but meanwhile a posse composed of sheriffs' deputies from Wisconsin and Illinois was closing in. The key incident was spotted from an Illinois State Police airplane and policemen on the ground were notified.

A short time later, the suspect abandoned his car and headed into a corn field with deputies in pursuit The deputies said Retzlaff handed over his gun and the bag containing the loot.

that the churchmen were armed with a knife and pistol and that Coleman, a prominent Hayneville resident, fired two shots from a 12-gauge automatic shotgun in self-defense

While the jury was out, the judge conferred with state and defense attorney in still another civil rights slaying, and postponed that trial until Oct 18. It had been expected to start today.

Thagard said he did not believe it would be possible to finish the trial of Ku Klux Klansman Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, by the end of this week.

And, because of a weighted docket in another county of his circuit, the judge said he could not let the Wilkins case run past the weekend.

Next Month

Consequently, he reset the klansman's trial for a special term of court next month The Fairfield, Ala., mechanic is charged with murder in the killing of a Detroit housewife, Viola Liuzzo.

Coleman's attorneys, to support their plea of self-defense in the slaying of Daniels, 27, reminded the jury of the testimony of two witnesses who said they saw — or thought they saw — a knife in Daniel's hand and a gun in the hand of the Catholic priest, Father Morrisroe

Officers found no weapon on Daniel or Morrisroe after the shooting. But the defense argued that other civil rights workers at the scene could have taken the knife and gun to keep officers from finding them.

Mays Denies He's After $150,000

Giant Star Draws $105,000 Salary At Present Time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Distressed by a report that he was going to seek a $150,000 salary from the San Francisco Giants next year, Willie Mays went to club owner Horace Stoneham today and assured him he knew nothing about it

"I knew the man upstairs (Stoneham) was gonna raise the dickens at a story like this, at this time, so I had to talk to him," said the great center fielder

"I don't like to see such things in print," he added "I've never discussed my salary with any newspaperman I regard things like that as private between me and the old man"

Mays is baseball's highest salaried performer at $105,000 Asked whether he would want a $45,000 raise, Willie said

"Yes, I like money I hope it's always the subject, but I haven't said nothing about this I just had to tell the man upstairs I had nothing to do with this"

The report didn't quote Mays, but said the source was Jake Shemano, Willie's financial advisor.

Never Argue

"No one talks for me when I talk pay," said Mays. "Mr Stoneham and I never had an argument over salary. The longest huddle over contract we ever had was five minutes

"I intend to talk with the old man sometime during the winter. But this is no time The important thing is winning the pennant That's uppermost on my mind right now"

Stoneham appeared more puzzled than angry over the story

"When the time comes," he said, "we'll sit down and discuss Willie's contract If it's $150,000 he wants, let him ask for it. We've never had any problem before.

"As for Mr Shemano, I advised him to run his bank. I run the Giants" Shemano is president of the Golden Gate national bank

'Too Small for ND'

Purdue's Bob Griese Named Back of Week

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) —He was interested in going to Notre Dame They thought he was too small

But Bob Griese's tremendous passing gave Purdue a 25-21 football victory over Notre Dame last Saturday and shot the Boilermakers from sixth to second place in the Associated Press Top Ten teams. The former top-ranked Irish dropped to eighth

"Notre Dame was interested in me and I was supposed to go up for a visit but the trip was canceled because they didn't think I was big enough to play with them," said Griese Wednesday after being named the Associated Press Back of the Week

"That's one of the reasons I wanted to win Saturday It was a big thrill for me," he added

The 6-foot-1, 185-pound junior quarterback completed 19 of 22 passes good for three touchdowns

"I think it was the best game for me", Griese said "But it was really a great team effort—the best we've done for a long time Blocking was good When I don't get that blocking, it's awful difficult"

282 Yards in Air

Griese gained 282 yards through the air Saturday, but said "I don't consider myself a football hero I was out there doing my job just like anyone else It could have gone the other way, you know"

Hadrick and Griese were stars of Ross Ade Stadium Saturday before a record crowd of nearly 62,000 fans

But the pair starred in an empty stadium last summer Both worked on construction of the new practice field and practiced unsupervised nearly every evening on pass cuts and pass returns

Griese exudes confidence

Always Optimistic

"I always go out there with an optimistic outlook I've always tried to be a winner in everything I do—ping-pong or anything If you don't have that winning confidence, that's one strike against you already," he said

The all-round athlete has played football since the seventh grade, winning 12 letters in prep football, basketball and baseball

Griese was born in Evansville, Ind, and attended high school there

Bob's mother, Mrs Ida Griese, is one of his biggest fans and was on hand for Saturday's Big Show She has worked as a secretary to rear her three children since her husband's death 10 years ago Bob's brother, Bill, is 22 His sister, Joyce, is a high school senior.

Oshkosh at Stevens Point (night)

Stout at Northwestern (Wis.)

A game that should measure how far defending champion Eau Claire has slipped and how much La Crosse has improved headlines the weekend slate in the Wisconsin State University football conference.

The Blugolds, surprised by Stout 16-14 last Saturday night, could keep their hopes for another championship alive with a victory Friday night over the Indians, who walloped Superior 43-14 in their last outing

Both teams sport 2-1 overall records but La Crosse has won its only conference game while Eau Claire is 1-1 in league play

Blugold Coach Jim Rice had realigned his defense for La Crosse, which had a 5-4 record in 1964, and hopes to add offensive muscle in the person of fullback Ray Cheyka, who recently rejoined the team

Leading Scorer

Cheyka, leading scorer in the conference last season and fifth in ground gaining, will be seeing action for the first time this season against the Indians

Wisconsinites Debate Merits On District Bill

House Passes Mild Version of Measure On Home Rule Issue

BY FRANCES MC KUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Two Wisconsin House members tangled during debate on legislation aimed at giving the residents of the District of Columbia self-government..

On Tuesday, when the House virtually was considering two "home rule" bills at the same time, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, Milwaukee Democrat, an ardent proponent of self-government for the nation's capital, argued heatedly with Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, Mercer Republican, who spoke against giving the "richest and most favored city in the world" self-government. O'Konski contended that home rule would multiply the community's present problems and at the same time, the blame for these problems would be dropped in the lap of Congress.

When the final vote came Wednesday on home rule, the House approved 283 to 117 a much milder measure than had been passed in the Senate. The House bill authorizes the District of Columbia residents to hold a referendum on the question of home rule and elect a board to prepare a municipal charter to be submitted to the voters and to Congress.

Senate Bill

The Senate bill gives Washington residents the right to elect a mayor and other city officials and virtually turns over to them the full operation of the district's government.

Only two members of the Wisconsin delegation voted Wednesday against the watered down bill: Reps. John W. Byrnes, R., Green Bay and O'Konski. All others voted for it.

In a speech Tuesday, O'Konski described some of the conditions in Washington which he said were unique to the capital of the United States.

"Where do you have a situation where juvenile delinquents can go out in the summertime and knock out $120,000 worth of windows and have Uncle Sam pick up the tab and no one go to jail for it?" O'Konski, a ranking Republican on the House Committee on the District of Columbia, demanded.

"Where in any city in America can a man seek the favors of a woman and live with her and raise a family of 12 without wedlock and have Uncle Sam pick up the tab?" he continued. "Where do you have a professional football team subsidized by the federal treasury like you have in the District of Columbia? The sum of $800,000 has been appropriated by Congress this year to support a place where the Redskins and the Senators play ball."

O'Konski contended that if Washington were given home rule, all of its problems of crime, welfare and education, would be increased a thousand fold and would be dropped into the lap of Congress with the complaint that Congress was stingy with its money, or heartless.

He pointed out that taxes set by the District of Columbia commissioners on cigarettes, liquor are among the lowest in the country, and that real estate taxes in Washington are only a fraction of those in his home town.

Questions Property Tax

"If the District of Columbia commissioners are reluctant to raise taxes to where they ought to be and these commissioners are not chosen by the people of the city, can you imagine how much more reluctant these commissioners would be to raise property taxes if they had to depend on the votes of the residents of Washington?" O'Konski asked the house.

Byrnes, voted against final passage of the home-rule bill because he did not believe it was a "responsible" piece of legislation.

"The District of Columbia is not an ordinary city in the usual sense of the word because it is a federal city and as such presents an entirely different over-all situation," Byrnes explained. "The citizens of the district should have basic authority over many municipal functions, but the federal government should have control over other areas. The bill approved today does not properly designate the two areas of responsibility," he concluded.

Red China Pitches Anniversary Eve Challenge at World

'Let Them Come,' Minister Shouts at News Conference

TOKYO (AP) — Red China, lean but no longer hungry, trumpeted defiance at all its enemies today on the eve of its 16th birthday.

It was Oct. 1, 1947, that Red China was set up after defeat of Nationalist China forces.

Direct Challenge

"Let them come when they like!" Japanese correspondents reported he shouted. "Let the Indians come with them. Let the British come, too. Let the revisionists in the north (the Soviets) combine with them."

He promised that the Chinese would wipe out any attackers.

He also encountered African and Asian countries to produce their own nuclear weapons, a direct challenge to the U.S.-Soviet stand against the spread of nuclear weapons.

Chen Yi laid down tough conditions for Peking's entry into the United Nations He said the United Nations must withdraw its resolution branding China an aggressor in the Korean War. He said it must admit all "independent" nations and expel all "imperialist puppet states," including Nationalist China.

Today the Chinese Communist party's theoretical journal, Red Flag, admitted that the class struggle still exists in China, "at times is very acute."

"The old ideas, notions, habits and conventions are extremely tenacious," it said. "Our struggle against them will be a protracted one."

Recent Actions

Though the Chinese have not abated their outward shows of belligerency, students of Chinese affairs in Tokyo note that their recent actions have prudently hewed to the line of self-interest rather than that of international communism.

The Peking regime appears concerned first with strengthening its domestic position, concentrating on further recoveries in agriculture, expansion of light industry and continuation of the gradual buildup of heavy industry. Thanks to an improvement in the standard of living, experts say it is getting greater cooperation from the masses.

Half a million Chinese will march through Peking's Square of Heavenly Peace Friday in front of the ancient forbidden city under the gaze of aging Communist party chairman, Mao Tze-tung, and a few guests, including Cambodia's ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk and the year's top defector, Li Tsung-jen, former acting president of Nationalist China.

Special programs have been arranged throughout the country to mark the anniversary.

Jury Acquits Deputy Sheriff In Rights Killing

12 Deliberate Hour Today Before Arriving at Verdict

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A jury of 12 white men acquitted special Deputy Sheriff Thomas L Coleman today of a manslaughter charge in the killing of a white civil rights worker, Jonathan M Daniels.

The verdict came after the jury had deliberated one hour Wednesday night and one hour this morning In the intervening time, the jurors had spent the night locked up in Montgomery.

Foreman C E. Gates Jr handed the written verdict to the circuit clerk, Mrs Kelly Coleman She read it aloud in the courtroom.

Several of the jurors shook hands with the defendant after Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard discharged them.

The spectators who occupied most of the seats in the courtroom took the verdict without any display of feeling.

Manslaughter, which under Alabama law is defined as a deliberate unlawful taking of human life without malice, is punishable by one to 10 years in prison

The jury got the case at 4:43 p m but immediately took a 15-minute recess before starting deliberations in a high-ceilinged room in the century-old Lowndes County Courthouse.

Defense attorneys, in closing arguments, readily conceded that Coleman, 55, a highway engineer, killed Jonathan M. Daniels, an Episcopal seminary student from Keene, N H , and critically wounded the Rev. Richard Morrisroe of Chicago.

Debbie Ceases To Pose Threat

MIAMI, Fla (AP) — Tropical storm Debbie gave the Gulf Coast from Florida to Louisiana a scare and whipped a few gales ashore before she broke up about 30 miles south of Biloxi, Miss

Debbie, which formed last Friday off the Mexican coast, got within 100 miles of Pensacola before she stalled and lost her strength to a cold front on the mainland Wednesday.

Flooding, which the Weather Bureau feared might be debbie's worst threat, did not develop

Volcano Hurls More Lava on Rescue Efforts

Toll Estimate Still Indefinite; Taal Erupts Again

MANILA (AP) — The Taal Volcano hurled steam and lava 2,000 feet into the air today while rescuers tried to determine how many persons died in hhe volcano's eruption Tuesday.

New evacuation measures were ordered along the lake surrounding the tiny volcanic island 40 miles south of Manila.

The volcano had subsided Tuesday night but continued to rumble and emit smoke and steam Arturo Alcaraz, director of the Commission of Volcanology, said the new crater formed by the eruption Tuesday had widened to a diameter of about 1,640 feet.

Death Estimate

The Philippine Constabulary estimated about 500 persons may have been killed Tuesday.

About 2,000 Filipinos lived on the volcano's slopes. The first rescue parties to reach the island feared most had been killed, but more and more were turning up in refugee camps.

Rescue workers said they found ashes and volcanic debris 30 feet deep in places and saw no immediate sign of human life. Only rooftops showed in some villages.

The rescuers said apparently one-third of the island was badly hit but most residents elsewhere may have been able to get to boats and sail away.

Accurate Count

An accurate death count seemed unlikely, since many drowned trying to flee and other persons were buried by ash and lava that rescuers said would be impossible to remove.

The constabulary said 22,000 persons were housed in emergency camps.

More troops were rushed to the lakeshore area amid reports that deserted homes were being looted.

Vietnamese Plan Six Viet Cong Executions

South Acts Despite Red Threat of Reprisal Against American Held Prisoner

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government is reported planning six more executions Friday despite Viet Cong threats of reprisals against American prisoners.

Informants said no Communist reaction was expected because those to be executed were convicted of criminal activities in no way related to the Viet Cong.

When Brig Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky became premier of South Viet Nam last June, he warned that his government would execute hoarders, speculators and war profiteers. So far, none of these executions have been carried out publicly.

Sandbag Wall

In retaliation, the Viet Cong executed Sgt. Harold Bennett of Perryville, Ark., on June 25.

The Viet Cong announced Monday they had executed another two American servicemen in reprisal for the shooting of three Viet Cong sympathizers at Da Nang two weeks ago. The Americans were Capt. Humbert R Versace of Baltimore, Md., and Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, whose wife lives at Fayetteville, N.C.

More Threats

Threats of more reprisals against captured Americans came in a letter from North Viet Nam to the International Red Cross in Geneva and in the official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan.

North Viet Nam told the Red Cross that captured American and South Vietnamese pilots will be tried as war criminals because they had "deliberately" bombed objects marked with the sign of the Red Cross. The State Department has denied this.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said in Washington "any effort to brand American pilots as war criminals and try them in kangaroo fashion would be a smoke screen for reprisals" for the execution of Communist terrorists by the South Vietnamese.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester said in Miami, Fla , that the Communist declaration was "a resort to primeval savagery."

Lenient Policy

Nhan Dan said Roraback and Versace "would have been put to death long ago had it not been for the lenient policy" of the Viet Cong.

The Communists indicated in a broadcast earlier this week that more Americans might be put to death if the South Vietnamese government continues to execute Communist agents.

U.S. officials in Saigon said 38 American military personnel are missing and many of them are believed to be in Viet Cong hands.

Air Force records in Washington list six pilots as prisoners and 29 others as missing. The Navy does not acknowledge that any of its pilots have been captured but three of them listed as missing have appeared in Communist photographs or films from North Viet Nm .

More Skirmishing In India-Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India and Pakistan dug in today for what promised to be more bloody skirmishing along the ineffective U N. cease-fire line between their armies.

Spokesmen for both nations continued to adopt uncompromising stands that appeared to leave no prospect of a significant troop withdrawal or long-range peace settlement.

Short Observers

The United Nations, which arranged the cease-fire on Sept. 28, still did not have enough observers to patrol the front. The chief U.N. officer, Maj. Gen. Bruce McDonald of Canada, reportedly crossed no-man's land in the Lahore sector in an effort to quiet the skirmishing.

McDonald was reported proposing that both armies initially withdraw 500 yards along the Lahore front, where their forward units now faced each other across the 100-foot-wide Ichhogil Canal.

A U.N. spokesman in New York said Secretary-General U Thant had asked several Communist East European governments to contribute to the U.N. observer force. Yugoslavia is the only Communist nation which has received such a request in the past.

Counter Charges

Both sides were charging cease-fire violations along the front stretching from Himalayan Kashmir southwest almost to the Arabian Sea Coast.

Some of the heaviest fighting was reported in the great Indian desert covering much of India's Rajasthan State and the adjoining Hyderabad area of southern West Pakistan.

The Pakistani defenders said they inflicted heavy casualties and captured five Indian officers, including a battalion commander.

India claimed it was winning the desert fighting, causing the Pakistanis "grievous losses in men and equipment." A defense ministry spokesman said 27 Pakistanis were killed and 26 captured when their units tried to infiltrate the West Indian state.

Trailer Trip Halted by War

Traveler Loses Equipment

MANAWA—A world traveler who left this community in March for a world tour with a Manawa-made camping trailer, has been separated from his equipment in the war-torn India-Pakistan area

Harold Stephens, American writer and adventurer who promised a world circling trip with his Trade Winds camper writes he is "disgusted, frustrated and annoyed. It appears I may be here for months in the Far East."

Stephens and his companion, Al Podell, planned to be in Manawa to complete their trip next spring The two report that they had encountered snow storms, floods, desert crossings, disease, land slides, bandits and robbers, before the war interrupted their travels after seven months.

Cross Deserts

The two, with their Wisconsin-manufactured trailer and hundreds of pounds of equipment, have crossed the world's hottest deserts, the Sahara, Libya, the Great Salt desert of Iran, and the Afghan, have crossed the Dead Sea, and traveled for hundreds of miles in territory which has never seen a highway or a road.

Stephens reports that he came down with ptomaine poisoning after eating a can of sardines during a rest stop in the Libyan desert.

Following the illness, Stephens and Podell split up in Afghanistan. Podell followed a southern route to Kabul and Stephens followed a long-forgotten route in the north. He took a British sailor with him as companion

Podell arrived in Kabul in two days, and after five days, when he did not hear from his companion, notified the American Embassy that Stephens may be lost along the way.

Begin Search

A search was begun and the European press carried accounts of the American writer and his sailor companion being lost

Stephens, meanwhile, near exhaustion and running low on food and water, was traveling along a desert trail when he encountered a Japanese-made automobile The driver, a woman, dressed in white, waved and Stephens stopped his car and waved back

The driver, who had begun a search for the writer, was an old friend he had not seen for several years, but who had heard of his plight and flew to Kabul to join the search.

Stephens and Podell, reunited in Kabul, resumed traveling to Katmandu, Nepal and then to Calcutta where they decided to travel into East Pakistan for a visit to the primitive Chattagon Hill area.

Build Up

Border troubles had been rumored and the two noticed the military build-up along the way. Once, when they stopped to ask directions from a military group at a crossroads, they were arrested and placed in a police compound. Their film and cameras were confiscated.

Later, the two, after being identified as journalists, were taken under armed guard to the Pakistan border where they were allowed to cross the military lines.

When they reached Dacca, the East Pakistan capital, they learned that telephone

Await Papal Advice

Urge Council to Scrap Its Birth Control Text

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council was asked today to scrap its entire text on birth control and let Pope Paul VI make a final pronouncement on the subject.

The request came from John Cardinal Heenan of Britain, who also asked that the Roman Catholic Church urge childless couples to adopt orphans and illegitimate children.

Cardinal Heenan was among 14 prelates who spoke in the council on the marriage and birth control section of the assembly's schema on modern world problems

Have Right

The document speaks of couples having the right to determine the number of children they should have. But there is no mention of contraception.

Clearly alluding to contraception, Cardinal Heenan told the prelates in St. Peter's:

"Would it not be better to say nothing at all about marriage in this document rather than discuss it while leaving the really big problem without mention?

"If we act in this way, there is surely some danger that the faithful will feel they are being defrauded."

He said non-Catholic critics might even "sneer at us and say 'the Catholic Church claims to be infallible in teaching faith and morals, yet it cannot make up its mind about this question.'

'It would be better to leave out this whole chapter on marriage until the Pope, having received the guidance he has sought from scientists and theologians, is ready to make a proclamation on this subject."

Another speaker, Angelo Cardinal Rossi of Sao Paulo, Brazil, said the final word on birth control properly belongs to the Pope, but that the bishops at the council "must have some word before we leave and go back to our people."

Conservatives in the council complain that the birth control document is vague and leaves the way open for use of contraceptives.

Reds Expell ABC Reporter Sam Jaffe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today ordered the expulsion of Sam Jaffe, Moscow correspondent for the American Broadcasting Co.

The chief of the Soviet press department, Leonid Zamyatin, told Jaffe he had seven days to leave. Zamyatin said the ABC bureau was not being closed but the government had canceled a visa for George Watson, who was to replace Jaffe later this year.

Zamyatin said Jaffe's expulsion was ordered because of resent ABC reports. He indicated the Soviet leadership had been angered by a report from the United States by ABC correspondent John Scali that a Kremlin shakeup was likely.

Scali had said high government officials in Washington were studying a flood of reports which led them to believe a power struggle was under way in the Kremlin and that one version had it that both Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev were being ousted.

Lady Bird's Bill On Roads Could Be in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's highway beauty bill, which has taken some ugly knocks in its travels through the House, faces new trouble today.

The bill, in which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has shown great interest, is caught in as pretty a fight as the Rules Committee has seen all year.

Even the staunchest administration supporters on the committee found little good in the bill Wednesday and if they vote the way they talk, it will never be cleared for floor action. A vote could come today but no action has been definitely set.

The bill already has been passed by the Senate. Outside of commercial areas, it would require the removal of all billboards within 660 feet of the major highways of the nation.

Board Says It Prefers Local Labor, Materials

CLINTONVILE — Construction bids for the new grade school to replace the razed Longfellow School will be opened Oct. 12 at the office of Supt K O. Rawson, the board of education announced Tuesday.

Earlier this year, district electors approved a $1 million bond issue for construction of the new school.

Clarence Barker of the Barker Insurance Agency appeared before the board relative to the purchasing of the performance bond covering the building of the new school. After a lengthy discussion, the following motion was passed by the board:

"It is the desire of the Clintonville school board that as much labor and material as feasible, to be used in the contract, be purchased from within the district It is also its desire that the successful contractor will purchase the performance bond through a local representative of any of the bonding companies of his choice if represented locally. This is to be an addendum to the bids and specifications."

Protect District

The performance bond will protect the school district if the contracter does not or cannot finish the contract.

The board also discussed the two-year college and Director Harland Kirchner said he had met with Philip Larnino, general manager of FWD Corp., relative to the firm's needs for a vocational school. The Clintonville committee previously appointed to check into the junior college situation had a meeting scheduled for Wednesday night with Sen. Gerald Lorge.

Discussion on expanded use of the library was postponed until the Oct 12 meeting as Mrs. Robert Billings, the school librarian, could not be present Tuesday night.

Supervisors Ask Details On Fund Offer

$180,000 Available In Federal Grant to Winnebago County

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County supervisors are going to look a $118,000 gift horse in the mouth.

At Tuesday's board session the county clerk read a letter addressed to Chairman Joseph F. Drexler from Gov. Warren Knowles. The letter indicated that the recent congressional economic opportunity act earmarked $118,000 for Winnebago County out of the $251,000 for the area in which the county is a part. Winnebago, Fond du Lac and Calumet counties are assigned as one area under the act.

The governor's letter asked for the "vigorous backing" of the Winnebago County board in establishing a Winnebago County Community Action Organization and the unification of this group with the Regional Community Action organization.

Asked what this meant, Chairman Drexler replied that he tried to find out what it was all about at the state County Boards Association convention last week but that no one there seemed to know either, including some of the state legislators.

More Information

"Is this the poverty act?" one supervisor asked.

Board members decided to get more information and delegated chairman Drexler to write the governor's office for more background.

Propose $13 Million Cut in Welfare Costs

Task Force Recommends State Agency Reorganize Operation

MADISON (AP)—A $13 million cut in the annual cost of operating the State Welfare Department was proposed Wednesday by a government efficiency team of private businessmen.

The group backed up its recommendation with proposals that would reorganize the department, revise the present method of distributing public assistance aid and increase certain license and service fees.

Counties would have to pick up about $12 million of the recommended cut in state expenses to keep local services at their present level. The total is divided between savings the state would realize through revision in aids and the higher amount counties would have to pay for state care of mental patients.

The report of the state task force on improved government expenditure management concluded that the present aid formula gives "a terrific break" to counties now spending the least on public welfare services.

Counties At Terrific Break

"The net effect is similar to permitting some counties to (indirectly) levy a tax on all other counties in the state to provide funds for their programs," the report said, adding:

"A change in the formula for distributing state and federal funds on a more equitable basis to counties for public assistance aids can save the state up to $6 million a year."

Objections Foreseen

The task force, headed by William R. Kellett of Neenah, contended that a bill to revise the aid formula would encounter strong objections in the Legislature. There also were no favorable predictions for a measure that would charge counties more for the care of mental patients.

In the area of juvenile corrections, the group recommended expanding the state's foster home program to give institutional care to minor offenders.

The task force said $1 million a year could be saved and a $5 million investment avoided if the program "can be extended to eliminate the need for just one of four to five new correctional institutions programmed for the next 10 years."

New London Area Employment Up

State Agent Says Jobless Figure Lowest Since 1957

NEW LONDON — Unemployment in this area is at an eight-year low, according to a representative of the Wisconsin State Employment Service (WSES) office of Appleton.

He said the number of persons on unemployment rolls or seeking jobs during his visit Wednesday was the lowest he could remember since 1957. About 30 persons visited the office Wednesday and not all were seeking employment.

Most of those applying for unemployment insurance were women. Some construction workers also were included, but they were expected to return to work shortly.

The entire Waupaca County area is running at a low unemployment rate, he said. Clintonville, which once had fluctuations, has boomed with the FWD Corp.'s need for employes. Waupaca also has virtually no unemployment problem.

Seasonal jobs in canning factories have taken much of the female work force.

The WSES agent said New London had fluctuations in employment at some of its industries at one time, but lately the work force has been more stable.

Wednesday's unemployed at city hall was about one-tenth of the turnout during the winter when unemployment reached about 300.

Seek Police Candidates At Waupaca

WAUPACA — Applications for the position of patrolman on the Waupaca Police Department are being accepted, Police Chief Fred Rasmussen said Wednesday.

Schroeder will start his new county duties Jan. 1.

No date for interviews or when the new city policeman will be hired have been set, Rasmussen said.

Waupaca-Scandinavia To Get Toll-Free Service

Public Service Commission Also Denies Plea For Telephone Facility Connecting Iola

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Toll-free telephone service has been ordered established by the State Public Service Commission between Scandinavia and Waupaca in the Waupaca and Portage County service areas of the Scandinavia Telephone Co.

The commission at the same time refused a similar request for establishment of toll-free service between Iola and Waupaca in the same counties.

The application for service was made by almost 200 subscribers to telephone service supplied by the Scandinavia company. The Waupaca exchange is a part of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

Requires Change

In ordering that service be started on a toll-free basis between the Scandinavia and Waupaca exchanges, the commission stated that based on studies made of telephone use in that area, public convenience and necessity required the change. The commission also stated that such was not the case between the Iola and Waupaca exchanges.

Tol-free service must be initiated by the Scandinavia firm between its home town and Waupaca no later than June 1, 1967, the commission ordered.

There are 698 main stations served from the automatic dial switchboard at Iola, and 210 main stations served by a similar facility in Scandinavia. According to the commission studies from company records, each subscriber in the Scandinavia service area made 2.3 toll calls to Waupaca per month, as compared to only 1.1 such calls from subscribers in the Iola service area.

Scandinavia is nine miles from Waupaca, while Iola is 13.

Estimated cost of the additional equipment needed at the Scandinavia exchange for toll-free service is $15,863. A more accurate figure will be reported to the commission at a later date for determination of new exchange rates.

Tigers in First Place

Sheboygan Falls Is Chilton's Eastern Wisconsin Foe Friday

CHILTON — The Eastern Wisconsin Conference football season heads into its fourth week of play with the first place Chilton Tigers meeting the Sheboygan Falls Falcons Friday night.

The Tigers defeated New Holstein last week to gain undisputed first place in the league and must keep winning to retain the position as three other teams have suffered only one defeat.

Chilton goes into Friday night's game with the two leading scorers of the conference in halfbacks Don McHugh and Dave Schaefer. McHugh in three games has totaled 24 points on four touchdowns and Schaefer is one point behind with three touchdowns and five extra points.

Chilton gets the nod as the favorite against the Falcons, a team that was considered as a strong contender for the grid title in pre-season predictions, but a team that already has suffered two defeats against only one win in the young season.

The Tigers are the leading scoring team, having scored 81 points in three games. They rank third in the conference on allowing points, having given up 19 points to 12 by Plymouth. New Holstein, which had two shutouts to its credit before Chilton scored 13 against them last week, ranked second.

Other action around the EW league finds Valders traveling to Plymouth with the host Panthers favored; Cedar Grove entertaining New Holstein with the Huskies given a big edge; Oostburg getting the nod over winless host Elkhart Lake, and Kiel at Kohler in a toss-up affair.

Supervisors Ask Details On Fund Offer

area was asked in a letter from the Rev. John C. Hanchett in his role as president of the Council. This request was turned over to the welfare board.

The Winnebago County Bar Association wrote the board that the basement lounge room used for industrial commission hearings is, in the opinion of the Industrial Commission examiners, "less than desrable."

Plan Meeting

The Bar Association letter said the acoustics and decor of the room is not fitting for the hearings. It asked if an unused jury room or some other room could be used. Otherwise, the Bar Association said, these hearings may be held in other counties and this would work a hardship on Winnebago County persons. The letter was referred to the public building committee.

Letters from the Wolf River Basin regional planning commission called the board's attention to an inter-county water resources meeting scheduled for the Pioneer Hotel Oct. 28 and 29 at which about 300 are expected.

'Washer, Stove Dancing'

Neenah Woman Describes 1964 Alaskan Earthquake Experience

The earthquake that hit Anchorage, Alaska, in March, 1964 made the earth feel "like a ship weaving in a storm," Mrs. Gladys Milner told persons attending the annual meeting of the Outagamie County chapter of the Red Cross Wednesday.

Mrs. Milner, who now lives in Neenah, had spent five years in Alaska with her husband and three teen-age daughters. She said the original earthquake lasted five minutes, with 100 tremors being recorded within 48 hours after the original quake.

"I had just put supper on," Mrs. Milner said, "when the house started shaking." Her daughters went outside, but she stayed in the kitchen, "holding the cupboard doors shut so the dishes wouldn't fall out."

Mrs. Milner told the audience her washing machine and stove were "dancing around the room." She finally went outside and lay on the ground until the quake was over. When Mrs. Milner went back into the house, she found beets on the ceiling and the walls. "I haven't eaten beets since," she said.

Extended Help

"It was fantastic the way teen-age boys and girls helped out," Mrs. Milner commented, as she told how everyone extended a helping hand to their neighbors.

She described, with the aid of slides, how houses and buildings had been twisted out of shape or had completely collapsed, and how streets and highways crumbled.

She noted that even though the damage was extensive, it was not as great a tragedy as persons living in the rest of the United States imagined it to be. Mrs. Milner added that the people took the earthquake calmly, even though some lost their homes or businesses.

New Directors

New members of the chapter's board of directors were introduced, including Donald Morrissey, chairman; Phil Dixson, vice chairman, Mrs. Robert Zwicker, John Wall, Edward Merten, William Morrissey, Michael Burns, Mrs. Richard Tomm, William Shaw, Ivol Van Handel, Robert Weyenberg, Roy Peterson and Lloyd Taylor.

John Dixon, retiring chapter chairman, received a certificate from the National Red Cross for his service to the organization.

In his report, Dixon recommended establishment of a Junior Red Cross, encouragement of greater county-wide Red Cross participation, and requesting local organizations to enlist members in a volunteer "pool" so that the "growing demands of war work may be met successfully."

A report on Badger Girls' State this past summer was given by Anna Marie Brewer, a senior at the high school. The AAUW helps sponsor a girl to Badger Girls' State.

The group's next meeting will be Oct. 25 at the home of Mrs. E. V. Vinquist. The program will be on "The Historical Background of Our Legal Society and The Supreme Court and The Quest for Law." Mrs. Frank DiCristina and Mrs. Henry Bowers will present the topic.

County Board Association Picks Johnson

President From One of State's Smallest Counties

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Members of the influential Wisconsin County Boards Association have turned to a veteran county board officer of one of the smaller counties of the state for leadership during the next year.

Assemblyman Lawrence Johnson, recently retired chairman of the Door County board, has been elected president of the group, the Association headquarters announced here today.

Tradition

Johnson's election by delegates at the convention of the association last week followed the tradition of naming legislators to the top office of the association. Johnson succeeds Assemblyman Franklin Jahnke of Green Lake County. Presidential alumni include several other men now prominent in the state legislature.

The association named Ray Blank of Sauk County vice president, and returned Donald McDowell of Crawford County as secretary-treasurer.

Alfred J. Thelen, one of the best-known spokesmen for local government in the state, has been the executive secretary and legislative counsel of the association for more than 30 years.

Various Posts

Johnson represents Door and Kewaunee counties in the legislature and is a farmer in southern Door County. The 57-year-old local government veteran has held various local and county offices over a period of more than 30 years and has been a member of the legislature since 1960. Earlier he had considered retiring from legislative service, but he has advised friends that he will run again next year. He is a Republican.

30-Student Cast Selected for AHS Production, '1984'

A 30-student cast has been selected for Appleton Senior High School's first play for the year, George Orwell's "1984," adapted by Robert Owens, Wilton E. Hall Jr. and William A. Miles Jr.

Lee Schoeni is director for the play, to be given Oct. 29 and 30 in the school auditorium. Technical directors will be Miss Susan Nason, Mrs. Nancy Erickson and George Means, speech instructors at the school.

The lead role of Winston Smith will be played by Neil Schipcea, with subsidiary leads of Syme and Parsons played by Carl Iddings and Nancy Retson, respectively.

Twelve students will have secondary roles, with 15 additional students playing the parts of comrades.

Training Session for Adult Scout Leaders Planned for District

Gordon Welch will speak on "What Boy Scouting Is" at the initial adult training session for East District Boy Scout leaders at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Little Chute State Graded School.

This will be the first in a series of training sessions for all adult leaders in the district. A meeting of faculty members conducting the training session will be held at 6:30 p.m. to set up a program schedule, according to Russell Johns, publicity chairman.

Paul L. Brown Named State Budget Official

MADISON (AP) — Two promotions Monday in the State Department of Administration elevated Paul L. Brown to coordinator of the executive budget division and named Richard I. Peterson his assistant.

Brown, 32, joined the department's bureau of management in 1960. Peterson, 30, has been with the bureau more than four years.

The division examines the proposed budgets of all state agencies and supervises their execution after legislative approval.

Humane War?

The execution of two American prisoners of war by the Viet Cong in retaliation for executions by the South Vietnamese of Viet Cong terrorists is one more example of the part public opinion plays in the conduct of a war.

Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has announced that the executions of Viet Cong will continue regardless of the retaliations. And those of us who are horrified by the shooting of unarmed prisoners of war must remember that the Viet Cong have been waging a terroristic war in South Viet Nam for some time. The systematic murder of the aged parents or small children of village leaders loyal to the South Vietnamese government, the mutilation and torture of prisoners as an example to others, the regular execution by beheading of other prisoners who do not re-educate easily, all have been part of the strategy. The old ideas of so-called humane rules of conducting a war are simply not accepted by the Vietnamese any more than they were by some of the Japanese and Nazis during World War II.

Meanwhile the United States is denounced for the use of tear gas despite the fact that it does no permanent damage and is a way of smoking out terrorists holed up in caves with hostages. Oddly enough our use of napalm bombs has not caused the uproar that the tear gas did although napalm kills and sometimes indiscriminately. And of course even a mention of nuclear weapons brings hysterical denunciation from almost every corner of the earth.

In this decade we have tried to limit wars to small areas, to active combatants and to "conventional" weapons. In other times the limits were different and noncombatants and prisoners of war were supposed to be well treated. As far as the Vietnamese are concerned — and this apparently goes for the South as well as the Viet Cong — prisoners of war are merely pawns to be used for exhibition, barter or example for firing squads, whichever fits best the plan of the moment.

Sometimes it appears from the number of movies, television programs and books about the wars we have fought that war itself is one of the major achievements of mankind. It may be, as General Robert E. Lee once said, that if it were not so horrible, men would be forever at it. But the killing of unarmed people, whether men, women or children, still should rank as dishonorable, except of course to the Communists.

'It's All Right, Senor Bosch. It Was Only a Truck Backfiring'

Let's Start on the Expressway

Communities spanning a three-county area have an opportunity through the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission to take advantage of state and federal legislation to hasten construction of a tri-county expressway system.

While the $50 million price tag put on the expressway last week by a planning commission official may be a staggering amount, the expenditure will pay handsome dividends to Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet County areas with projections showing the Valley's population by 1985 expected to be 500,000.

Expressway construction represents a monumental project when its scope is considered. However, considerable sound planning has already been accomplished through the cooperative efforts of communities in the tri-county area in putting the proposed expressway route on official maps.

In reserving the land for x-way use, officials have already saved millions of dollars that normally would have been paid out to purchase land and buildings for the new network of highways. This contrasts with the Milwaukee metropolitan region where building condemnation has been expensive and time-consuming.

Now that planners in this region have the support of the necessary government agencies on the county and local levels, it would seem logical that contacts should be made with federal authorities and the U. S. Bureau of Roads so future budgets for highway spending can include allotments for constructing the expressway in this region.

We agree with the statement made by the chairman of the Regional Planning Commission that, "The Valley won't need the system all at once and won't get it all at once." However, now is the time to let our representatives and the appropriate bureaus in Washington know that when it comes to budgeting money for expressway construction projects over the next few years — we need it and we want it.

Business and the Mails

The Chamber of Commerce at Wisconsin Rapids recently made public an indignant resolution protesting the deterioration of the service of the United States Postoffice and documented it with case histories reported by local businessmen in a survey about unpardonable delays in the delivery of letters from such relatively convenient locations as Minneapolis and Chicago.

We have an idea that there are scores of businessmen in all other parts of Wisconsin who muttered an echo based on their own experiences when they read of the anguished complaint of their compatriots in the central Wisconsin community.

Operation of the United States Postoffice is one of the foremost of the governmental service problems in America today, but we seriously doubt that it is getting the attention of the administration, of the Congress or of the practicing politicians that many lesser programs get as a matter of course. Is there not a shameful irony in the fact that our postoffice department has repeatedly been shown that some of the smaller and presumably "underprivileged" nations of the earth are delivering a more efficient mail program than is the United States of America?

These matters are not easy to discuss, without offending loyal and hard-working postoffice officials and employees in one's own community.

But they know, as we assure them that we know, that they are at the mercy of the discipline and efficiency of postmasters and their subordinates in thousands of other places in a big country who dispatch the mails that are distributed at their receiving office. If there is an error, or a delay, or simply ineffective performance, at any one of a half dozen places along the line, the local postmaster, sorter, superintendent, and carrier are quite helpless.

What concerns us, and we suppose must concern any other person in America who wants prompt mail delivery, is the evident indifference of our leaders to a problem that has become notorious. What concerns us again is the apparent inability of the national government, under the control of either party, to take such helpful action as is visible to the naked eye of the most inattentive of the postoffice's patrons. That the department should be managed as a patronage counter, at this late date in the 20th Century, is utterly inexcusable. What would happen if anybody suggested that the FBI officers, or the Internal Revenue agents, ought to be recruited on the basis of party loyalty, rather than professional competence? There is the issue of junk mail, which is obviously clogging the system. There is the whole question of mechanization and the adaptation of the resources of the new technology which private enterprise knows it must adopt or risk financial failure. Some day, we hope, some young congressman will take up this issue and will find to his surprise that he will become a national hero.

Chain O' Lakes Assn. Asks Equal Treatment From Waupaca Editor

Editor, Post-Crescent:

For reasons known best to himself, the editor of the Waupaca Post tries to make a whipping-boy out of the Chain o' Lakes Protective Association. Editorials, front-page articles and columns pour venom against us. He even suggested, on September 23rd, that we need "internal discipline."

On the contrary, we believe it is high time that the Waupaca Post undertook to discipline whoever is slanting the news and promoting disquieting dissension in this community.

ITEM: At a Farmington public hearing on Sept. 11, 1965, presided over by the Post editor as town chairman, 70 taxpayers voted against rezoning Otter Lake for camp-sites; 13 favored rezoning.

NOT A WORD ABOUT THIS IN THE POST.

ITEM: Over 100 letters and telegrams received by the Farmington Town Board opposing this rezoning.

NOT ONE SOLITARY WORD ABOUT IT IN THE POST. ITEM: 18 neighbors around Otter Lake delivered a petition to the board imploring them not to rezone for camp-sites.

NOT ONE SINGLE WORD ABOUT IT IN THE POST.

ITEM: Estimates presented to show that Waupaca derives $1,275,000 annually from cottage owners; estimated value of lake-shore property, near $9,000,000.

NOT MENTIONED IN THE POST.

ITEM: On Sept. 14 the Town Board Chairman-Editor overrides all opposition and OK's camp-sites.

FRONT PAGE ARTICLE IN THE POST. . .but without a single mention of the overwhelming opposition at the hearing of Sept. 11.

1. That we have taken down name sign-posts of non-paying members. A childish point, but to settle it once and for all, we hereby offer all sign-posts, which cost thousands of dollars, free of cost to the township, provided they maintain them. At the very least the editor will learn, first hand, about the problems of vandalism.

2. That 3 merchants were threatened by a boycott, presumably by this association. What are the names of the merchants and the threateners? Innuendo will not suffice. This association is sponsoring no boycott. In fact, our members continue loyally to support Waupaca merchants with their purchases.

We are surprised to learn in the Post that we are supposed to be engaged in a quarrel with the Waupaca Association of Commerce. Who fosters this manufactured ill will? We don't. How can it benefit Waupaca? What is the purpose behind this?

3. That scores of letters received some time ago by the Post, from association members, are suspect. They were "solicited by the association." The editor ought to know that some members of this group are not yet permanent residents of their lakes cottages, though they pay taxes in full. They don't all buy the Post. This association has the right. . .and obligation. . .to alert its members to the constant, unjust, harassing campaigns against them, conducted by the Post editor for his own ends. If the editor can monopolize the city's only newspaper to hammer home his vendetta, for whatever reason, aren't these taxpaying citizens entitled to defend themselves?

This editor confesses in his so-called coffee-break column of Sept. 23 that he has come to a definite conclusion about that American institution, the public hearing. He says that the majority at a hearing means nothing. . .these are irrational, emotional citizens. What really counts is the minority, because they represent the will of most citizens! Alice in Wonderland made more sense than this.

Under this formula, public hearings can practically be dispensed with. The majority view is bound to be wrong. And that's just the philosophy which was applied at the Farmington camp-site hearing.

In the twisted logic of arrogance, that's what the democratic process has come to. Only we don't buy it worth a tinker's dam.

Somebody surely does need disciplining: not this vigorous 500-member-strong association, dedicated to conservation and to the survival of the Chain O' Lakes as a place of beauty and a great unspoiled natural resource. We will not be silenced. We will continue to fight for the lakes so that present and future generations may enjoy them unspoiled and unpolluted.

Lawrence University Underway

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 30, 1865.

The University is now in full working condition and the creditable appearance of the great body of students indicates that vigorous progress will be made this present term. The number of students in attendance is much greater than at any time since the breaking out of the rebellion. No doubt the Winter term will be much greater.

The Fall term commenced on the second Wednesday of September; the Winter term will commence on the second Wednesday of December, and the Spring term on the first Wednesday of April.

It may not be generally known that in addition to the Preparatory and Seminary Departments, three full courses of study, each requiring four years, are provided at Lawrence University, viz: the regular Classics course, substantially the same as taught in the oldest Universities: the Scientific course, or, more properly speaking, the Practical course for those designed to be practical men in a plodding age; and the Ladies course, the same, with slight variations and additions, as the Scientific course.

The Library now contains between 5,000 and 6,000 volumes, and the annual Endowment Fund of $10,000 is devoted to its augmentation. In a few years, it will be the largest Library west of the Lakes.

The University already possesses as good a Laboratory as can be found in any other institution of thrice its age. The collection of minerals and other curiosities is quite respectable.

More Higher Education For Taxpayers' Dollar Is State's Big Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Two of the most provocative incidents at the first meeting of the reorganized and strengthened Coordinating Committee for Higher Education broadly suggested the burden of its assignment.

E. R. McPhee, the director of the state university system and a man of natural skills in communication, was reviewing the enrollment trends of his system and of the post-high school program in general when he glanced at Chairman Walter Kohler, the former governor, and remarked reminiscently:

Wyngaard

"When I presented our budget to Gov. Kohler in 1953, our system of nine schools had an enrollment of about 7,000 students.

"We thought that was a substantial number. But today there are as many students on a single campus, at the university at Oshkosh."

This fall the tax-supported program of education beyond the high school has enrolled well over 10,000 students. It may be that the repetition of the dramatic enrollment bulge has reduced the impact of the historic fact.

Yet anyone who has observed the drama of institutional expansion over the last decade and a half must sometimes remind himself that these things really happened. Mr. McPhee's illustration is as effective as any that could have been used. Moreover, the story is a continuing one. The total enrollments this fall would have been considerably greater, except for housing shortages here and there, and space and faculty problems in the post-high school programs of the expanding vocational schools, slowly tightening admissions requirements, and others.

These trends show clearly the kind of financing problem the state will face in the future. They tend to make relevant the impulsive query of a new member of the Coordinating Committee, C. O. Wanvig Jr., of Milwaukee, at the first meeting of the group a few days ago. After listening during a detailed explanation of ambitious plans to establish new university branches in numerous communities and other program enlargements, Wanvig asked how the idea grew that the campus should be brought to the student to replace the earlier conception that the student should go to the campus.

QUESTIONS

To those persons who have become accustomed to the idea that expansion of higher education facilities can continue indefinitely, such a question mght have implied some hostility. Yet it is a valid one. It will become more pertinent as the sheer weight of enrollment numbers dominates ever more powerfully the problem of managing the budget and taxes. This and similar questions were among those that led to the reorganization of the Coordinating Committee, as the basic policy-maker in the field.

These officials should not be surprised if outsiders tend to be skeptical in the years ahead about costly proposals to establish new branches and extension centers in communities of relatively small size or in locations that appear to a detached view to be within comparatively easy commuting range of existing institutions or that appear to be unnecessarily duplicating other services already available.

One of the interesting episodes at first, somewhat tense and uncertain meeting of the CCHE, was the critical commentary of Dr. Jim Dan Hill, a retired college president and lately a staff member of the committee, about the unrelated growth of post-high school academic programs in the vocational schools and the multiplication of state university and University of Wisconsin extrnsion centers.

Other states, said Dr. Hill with a candor that might have been related to the fact that he was making a valedictory speech in effect, are giving the taxpayers more educational service for their money. Thay may very well become a refrain in the discussions of higher education problems ahead.

Strictly Personal

History Repeats Self? Often It Only Stutters

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: There's no more dangerous combination in the world than a tiger in the tank with a jackass at the wheel.

We never think how foolish our language may sound to others — foreigners are baffled when we speak of a child as "three years old," for they wonder how we can speak of "three" as being "old."

Harris

It is a prime fallacy to believe that more money, more buildings, or even more teachers, will give us a better educational system: these things can help only if we can understand and agree on what constitutes a truly educated person.

What other nations think of as our arrogance is usually just our clumsiness of size; as Toynebee once observed, "America is a large, friendly dog in a very small room, and every time it wags its tail, it knocks over a chair."

The fact that man alone, of all creatures, is aware that he must die, is enough to make a qualitative difference (and not merely a quantitative one, as the mechanists believe) between us and all the lower forms of animal life.

The couples who have so much to say to each other while they are courting won't be able to imagine what happened to their inexhaustable fund of dialogue after they have been married a few years.

We may feel that "history repeats itself," but most of the time it is only stuttering — the war it finishes was begun two wars earlier, the revolution it consummates was conceived two despotisms ago.

It is a common fallacy to think that something more difficult is necessarily more meritorious; but a man can spend a year engraving the Lord's Prayer on the head of a pin, and all he has at the end is a pinhead.

Fame often contains the seeds of its own downfall, when a man begins living off the capital of his reputation, rather than investing more energy in his character.

A person who is obsessively concerned with being "in the swim" usually defeats himself by his very concern — for nothing is more fatal to popularity than an evident overeagerness to appear popular.

The scientific positivists of today have not yet learned what Thomas Huxley said nearly a century ago: "Anyone who is practically acquainted with scientific work should be aware that those who refuse to go beyond fact rarely get as far as fact."

All of us yearn to be regarded more deeply than our surface appearance; even the beautiful eventually become tired of being taken at face value.

Long Trucks May be Issue In Campaign

Democrats Promise To Fight Law Now in Assembly

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association and supporting groups have stepped up their campaign activity on behalf of new truck length legislation in preparation for the return of the state legislature to session on Oct. 4.

The Wisconsin Assembly has already approved a proposed change in the state law to permit maximum lengths of 65 feet for commercial vehicles on the Interstate highways of Wisconsin and such connecting routes as may be designated by order of the state highway commission.

Double Bottom

The existing law permits trailers of 40 feet in length hooked to tractors, in a maximum combination length of 55 feet. The new proposal would authorize so-called "double bottoms" and would contribute to Wisconsin industrial efficiency through the improvements of transportation service, the state senate will be told as it considers concurrence in the assembly proposal.

All indications are that the campaign of opponents will be vigorous and bitter. Some leading Democrats, including Attorney General Bronson C La Follette, have denounced the measure as a threat to highway safety and have challenged Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who has stood as a champion of improved highway safety laws, to speak out against it. Although the assembly vote of approval involved the backing of many Democrats in that house, some party leaders have said that the truck length bill may become an issue in the 1966 election campaign Among the nonpartisan critics is the Wisconsin division of the American Automobile Association.

Similar Action

In response the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association has said that similar measures are now accepted in other states and that it has followed the recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials in pushing for the rule change The Association is also carefully explaining that the "double botoms" would be used only on the permitted highways for inter-city movements Short trailers would be used for freight delivery in heavy traffic areas, it is explained.

Deny Charge Of Ouster Plot

Defectors' Claim U. S. Wanted Chiang Out Branded 'Lie'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D Eisenhower has been quoted as branding as "an absolute lie" the claim of a defecting Chinese Nationalist official that the United States wanted President Chiang Kai-shek overthrown in 1955

Chiang Ching-kuo, Nationalist Chinese minister and eldest son of President Chiang, called it "nothing but psychological warfare." He said Eisenhower had authorized him to deny it categorically.

The charge was made in Peking Sunday by Li Tsung Jen, former Chinese Nationalist vice president who lived in this country from 1948 until he moved to Communist China earlier this year

Li said "a U.S. Republican bigwig told me that the Washington authorities were very keen" to cooperate with him. Li said the unnamed American thought "that I could arrange a coup"

Chiang said he had talked with Eisenhower, who was president in 1955, and quoted Eisenhower as saying "it is an absolute lie that any American has done what Li has said."

A State Department press officer, Robert McCloskey, asked for comment on Li's statement, said, "I have absolutely no idea what he is talking about"
